ARCOT (SOUTH).

A District in the Madras Presidency. Bounded on the North by Chingleput and North Arcot, on the South by Trichinopoly and Tanjore, on the East by the Bay of Bengal; and on the West by Salem. Area, 4,207 square miles. Population, 2,320,085. Language spoken —Tamil.

Cuddalore —A sea-port, and the headquarters of the district, is situated on the Pennar and Gadilam rivers, vessels anchor within about 1½ miles of the shore In 1682, the E I C opened up negotiations with the Khan of Gingee for a factory at Cuddalore, and the first buildings were put up in 1683; a ring of palmyra trees still marks the land ceded for the settlement Trade grew rapidly, and the Company erected Fort St David and enlarged their warehouses. In 1702 the fortifications were rebuilt on more modern lines. On the fall of Madras in 1746, the administration was taken to Cuddalore. Fort St. David was soon after twice besieged by Dupleix, but without success; in 1752, the headquarters of Government were re-established in Madras, and, six years after, the French occupied the town and stormed and destroyed the Fort. It was re-taken by the British in 1760, but again fell into the hands of the French in 1772, and was unsuccessfully besieged by the British in the following year. In 1785 it was finally restored to England, under the treaty of Versailles.

A few of the ruins of the old Fort still exist, and the old garden-house (1788) of the Governors of Fort St. David is now the official residence of the Collector of the district.

There is a Station Club, and also one for Indian gentlemen. Conveyances can be hired at the Railway Station (South Indian Railway), and in the town.

BANGALORE.

Bangalore is a city situated in 12° 57′ N Lat and 77° 35′ E Long , and is 71 miles north of Seringapatam. It is 216½ miles by rail, west of Madras It covers an area of about 22½ square miles, and is divided into two distinct parts, viz., the City or Pettah, which is the old Native Town of Bangalore proper, and the Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station. Bangalore is the seat of Government for the Mysore State, and the Civil and Military Station is the head-quarters of the Bangalore Brigade of the IX (Secunderabad) Division of the Army It is also the head-quarters of the Resident in Mysore and Chief Commissioner of Coorg

The name Bangalore is a corruption of Bengalúru, which is probably derived from Bengalu a kind of bean, (hence the proverbial " City of Beans"), and the following story has been related in connection with it One day, when King Vira Ballála was hunting, he became separated from his attendants, and, losing his way, wandered about till nightfall. At last, faint and weary, he came upon a solitary hut, in which was an old woman, to whom he applied for something to eat. She had nothing better to offer him than some Bengalu, (green beans boiled in a little water), which however, he was glad to get, and sharing them with his horse, passed the night under the shelter of the lowly hut. The incident speedily became known, and the village (úru) which sprung up, thence took the name of Bengalúru. Bangalore has long enjoyed a reputation for salubrity, and a climate suitable for Europeans. Many hale, hearty people of an older generation have settled there; children thrive there. The hot season is from March to May, Courts, schools and colleges have their vacations at this time. The weather is dry, and often untempered by any breeze; the maximum heat is from 90° to 95° occasionally 99° The mornings, even at this time, are fairly cool. with sunset the temperature falls rapidly and the nights are quite bearable. The S.-W. monsoon breaks in June, accompanied by high winds and cloudy days; thereafter the weather is cold and bracing, and the close of the rainy season in November is marked by dense fogs which prevail all over the country in December and January, when fairly warm clothing is advisable.

The City stands in the centre of the Mysore table-land, about 3,000 feet above the sea, the general level being broken by a few slight elevations. The old Fort stands in the extreme south-west, north of which is the Pettah. The Fort is said to have been originally built of mud in 1537 by a local chieftain, the Poligar Kempé Gowda. The present fortifications of rubble stone were built in 1761 by Hyder Ali from plans by a French Engineer. The old Palace of Hyder Ali and Tippu Sultan was used for offices until 1876, when they fell into decay, but a small portion was restored in 1886. Some foul, dark, subterranean dungeons still exist, one of which was Sir David Baird's prison for three years and ten months. Beyond the Fort is the Lal-Bagh, or Horticultural Gardens, one of the finest in India. The City comprises an area of 10·72 square miles, and trade is brisk in cotton and grain.

The Civil and Military Station stretches away towards the north-east, terminating in the Native quarters of the Cantonment Bazaar, beyond which are the suburbs of St. John's Hill, Benson Town and Cleveland Town, dotted with the cottages of a large number of pensioned Europeans, and Fraser Town, with Richards Town, Cox Town and Wheeler Extension recently opened up to relieve the congestion in Blackpully. The large open space between the two Native quarters contains the Race Course, the Cubbon Park, the High Ground, and the Parade-ground. Here also are situated the chief Government offices, the houses of well-to-do European residents and the principal Hotel. The localities in the South are Richmond Town and Langford Town, Shoolay, Nilsandra and Ulsur. The Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station, covers an area of about 12½ square miles and was assigned to the British Government for purposes of political and administrative control, the Maharaja of Mysore having renounced the exercise of jurisdiction within it. It is officered by a British Resident of the first class, who is also the Chief Commissioner of the Province of Coorg. In it are situated the Barracks and Lines of the troops. Here also are the residential quarters for Europeans, Telegraph and Post Office schools, banks, shops, and places of amusement and recreation. The Central Jail covers a large space to the west of Cubbon Park, and is built on the radiating principle, with workshops for many trades. The Central College to the south-east of the Jail contains a hall with a roof supported by light monolithic columns, 30 feet high, quarried in the neighbourhood. The Maharaja's fine Palace is on the High Ground, in the extreme north. The new buildings of the Indian Institute of Science lie in open ground to the extreme north-west of the Station. There are numerous churches of different Christian denominations and many Hindu temples and Mahomedan mosques, as well as several excellent schools for European children.

Places of Interest.

THE BANGALORE CENTRAL JAIL—Is situated on Sheshadri Road, the Central College is to its East, the Race Course to the north and the Pettah to the south-west. It has a large industry, cloths, towels, table cloths, durries, woollen pile carpets, etc., are manufactured; rope spinning, carpenter's, blacksmiths', basket and leather work are also done here. There is an extensive garden attached to it which yields all the vegetables needed for the prisoners with spare quantities for sale to the public. Superintendent.—Mahomed Obaidulla. Medical Officer.—G. S David. Chief Jailor.—Mallikarjunappa.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, MYSORE.—The Director of Agriculture is the head of the Agricultural Department in Mysore with his office, situated to the east of the Central College, on the Sheshadri Road. Attached to the office buildings and under the control of the Director are the Agricultural Chemical Laboratory, the Mycological Laboratory, the Entomological Laboratory, the Pot-Culture House and the Insectary An Experimental Farm connected with the Department is situated at Hebbal, five miles from Bangalore Three other Experimental Farms have been started one in Nagenhalli, four miles from Mysore, one in Babbur, three miles from Hiriyur in Chittaldrug Dist and one in Marthur ten miles from Sagar in Shimoga Dist. The Agricultural School also under the Director of Agriculture, has class room with laboratory equipment on the Hebbal farm for Agriculture, Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Mycology and Entomology, and for theoretical and practical work in Agriculture, Carpentry, Blacksmithing and Fitting. A Veterinary Hospital for treatment of sick animals on the farm and in the neighbourhood has been opened The Veterinary Assistant in charge gives instruction to the students of the school in Veterinary Science, both theoretical and practical. A Students' Hostel attached to the School is located on the farm where quarters for living have also been provided An Implement Depot is attached to the Department in which machines and implements specially adapted to the Agricultural requirements of the State are stocked and sold to the ryots. As far as possible, local manufacturers are encouraged to stock approved implements made by them in this Depot When definite results in regard to experiments in the various branches of the Department are achieved, such results are published in the form of bulletins which are supplied to agriculturists in the State who apply for them free of cost. A District Staff, 8 Agricultural Inspectors for each district have been appointed in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the State to work under the Deputy and Asst. Directors, respectively.

A Dairy and Breeding Station has been attached to the Agricultural School at the Experimental Farm. Hebbal, for giving the students practical lessons in Dairying, etc.

The Sericultural, and Civil Veterinary Departments with Superintendents at their head have now been placed under the administrative control of the Director of Agriculture. Attached to the Sericultural Department are 8 farms in the Districts. The chief works of the Department are the evolving of improved breeds of the mulberry silkworms production and distribution of disease-free eggs. An up-to-date Filature has been installed at Mysore under the immediate supervision of an officer specially trained in France and Italy. A Japanese Silk Expert has been employed whose chief duty is the breeding of improved types of silk worms and a Japanese Lady Expert for teaching foot reeling for adoption as a cottage industry.

For more efficient supervision of work in the Civil Veterinary Department, two Divisional Officers with four Districts each for their jurisdiction have been appointed to assist the Superintendent in supervising the work of Veterinary Inspectors distributed over the Districts. Ten Veterinary Hospitals with accommodation for in-patients and ten Veterinary Dispensaries have been opened in the several districts of the State. The number of these institutions will be increased as funds permit, so that each one may serve two taluks of the State. Besides treatment of diseases the chief aim of the Department is to adopt measures for the prevention of the spread of infectious diseases by timely inoculations of healthy cattle and improvement of the local breeds by castration of scrub bulls and by providing suitable breeding bulls for service on the village cattle. Work with regard to improvement of the local breeds is being done in conjunction with the Live, Stock Expert of the Agricultural Department This latter officer has also on his programme of work the improvement of milch cattle by the importation of foreign bulls of known pedigree and improvement of the wool industry of the State by evolving better types of sheep with that of Merino rams

COLE'S PARK—Which is in charge of the Municipality of the Civil and Military Station, is situated to the west of St. John's Hill. This is again becoming a pleasant place of resort to the residents of St. John's Hill, as the Volunteer Band now plays in it when not otherwise engaged. The Tennis Courts are used by members of the Wesley Guild.

CUBBON PARK.—The Cubbon Park was originally laid out by the late Genl. Sankey, R.E. It is named after Sir Mark Cubbon a very popular Chief Commissioner of Mysore, and covers an area of more than 100 acres. It is situated east, north and south of the Public Offices, from the balcony of which a fine view is obtained, both of the Park and the surrounding country. The grounds include the Government Museum, the Sir Seshadri Iyer Memorial Hall and statue, an equestrian statue in bronze of Sir Mark Cubbon by Baron Marochetti, and a white marble statue of the late Queen Victoria by Sir Thomas Brock in Queen's Road. A statue of which the pedestal is erected is to match this one, as a memorial to the late King Edward, on the North side opposite the New Telegraph Offices. Land has recently been acquired in the south-west and various improvements are being carried out, which includes a new Bandstand facing the Seshadri Hall for the Military Bands which now play here. The Century Club is built to the west of the Seshadri Memorial Hall.

The Daly Memorial Hall, Library and Mythic Society premises, are situated on the Cenotaph Road, Bangalore City. The New Y. M. C. A. Buildings are also there.

THE DURBAR OFFICES.—The Mysore State Public Offices, situated at the west end of Cubbon Park, are the largest buildings in Bangalore. They consist of a fine two-storeyed structure in the classical style with verandahs all round, the entire length being 886 feet to which have been added two large extensions on the North and South sides. The Mysore Survey Offices near the Cenotaph Crossing is another fine block of buildings.

THE MYSORE GOVERNMENT MUSEUM.—Established in 1865, is open to the public from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily, Wednesdays and a few special holidays excepted. The present building which was opened to the public in 1877 is situated in the Cubbon Park (Sydney Road), the original building was in Museum Road giving the road its name. Among other specimens on view, there is a collection of Mysore coins, a large collection of the mineral products of the Province, a good collections of the local fauna and Mysore art ware. There is also a Library and Reading Room.

THE LAL BAGH.—The Lal Bagh is the Mysore Government Botanical Gardens. It is about two miles to the south-west of the Cantonment—a very pleasant ride or drive. This beautiful pleasaunce was first laid out in the time of Hyder Ali and was greatly enlarged by Tippu Sultan. It now possesses a Picnic Pavilion, a much needed addition, and the spacious and lofty Glass House, in imitation of the Crystal Palace in which the Horticultural Shows are held. There is also an equestrian statue in bronze of H. H. the late Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar Bahadur, G.C.S.I., erected near the Rosarium, the same having been removed from Mysore, where it was originally set up. The Gardens are over 100 acres in extent and among the finest in India, well worthy of a visit. A large Farm for experimental work and plantation for demonstrating Economic Botany is being developed close by, and a Seed Depôt, Economic Bureau and Herbarium have been newly started. A small Menagerie is maintained which is a source of much amusement to Natives and European children. L. Bightopanth Badami, B.A., Superintendent.

H. H. THE MAHARAJA'S PALACE.—Is situated north-west of the Civil and Military Station and south of the Cantonment Railway Station. It is approached from the High Ground by Palace Road and from the City by the Race Course. The main building is two-storeyed, and is designed after Windsor Castle: it covers an area of about 15,000 square feet. His Highness the Maharaja resides in the Palace for three or four months in the year. To the north-west of the Palace is H. H. the Maharaja's Polo Ground, one of the finest in India.

INDIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE.—This Institute, for post-graduate study and research in science, is situated to the west of the Hebbal Rifle Ranges, on the Yesvanthpur Road, about 3 miles out of the C. and M. Station.

Patron.—His Excellency the Viceroy of India.

Director.—Dr. M. O. Forster, F.R.S.

The following departments are now open:—

1. Department of General and Organic Chemistry.—Head of the Department and Professor of Organic Chemistry.—J. J. Sudborough, D.SC., PH.D., F.I.C., Professor of General and Inorganic Chemistry: H. E. Watson, D. SC., A.I.C.

2. Department of Bio-Chemistry.—Professor Gilbert John Fowler, D.SC., F.I.C.—Asst. Profr. for Mechanical Engineering: J. H. C. Kanu, B SC.

3. Department of Electrical Technology.—Profr.—Caterson Smith, M.I.E.E. Profr.—Asst. F. N. Mowdawalla, M.A., B.SC., A.M.I.E.E., Lecturer and Demonstrator B. S. Gupta, B. SC.

The Session opens on the first Wednesday in July and ends on the last Wednesday in March. No fees are charged, but students who reside in the quarters are required to pay Rs. 10 per mensem in addition to their share of messing expenses and to deposit Rs. 150. Further information may be had on application by letter to the Director.

MAYO MEMORIAL HALL.—This imposing-looking building was erected in memory of the late Lord Mayo, Governor-General of India. In 1883 it was made over by the British Resident to the C. and M. Station Municipal Commission on condition that the upper floor was available free of charge, for all Meetings of a public character. The Hall, which is now fitted with an installation of electric lights, is not rented as formerly for dances, concerts, wedding, receptions, etc., The Municipal offices are on the ground floor, the Hall being used for all Meetings of the Municipal Commissioners.

OOSSOOR ROAD CEMETERIES.—These lie to the south of Richmond Town and the Protestant Cemetery contains some very handsome tombstones. A cenotaph is erected here to the memory of the officers and men of the 16th (Queen's) Lancers who died while serving in this country. The Roman Catholic cemetery adjoins on the west and the Protestant Indian Christian cemetery on the south. More ground for the Protestant cemetery was enclosed on the north and the Scotch portion dedicated in August 1916.

KULPULLY CEMETERIES.—These are situated to the N.-E. of St. John's Hill and some of the gravestones are of very old date, one of them going back to 1808. The late General John Wheeler Cleveland, (after whom Wheeler Road and Cleveland Town are named) and his wife were buried here, the latter in 1874 and the former in 1883. A red granite monument has been erected in the Protestant cemetery to the memory of the N.-C. Officers of the 42nd Company of the Royal Engineers "who died in peace and war." The Roman Catholic Cemetery to the west contains a grotto in which there is a plaster representation of the Crucifixion, a very life-like work.

OLD PROTESTANT CEMETERY—It is not everybody in Bangalore who knows of the existence of this now disused place of interment. It is near the Cavalry Riding School, behind the Church of England Soldiers' Institute, and well worth a visit. There are some huge gravestones and monuments bearing quaint epitaphs; one of the oldest of these dates back to 1808. This cemetery is open to visitors on Thursdays and Saturdays.

THE RACE COURSE.—Is at the extreme west of High Ground, and is gained by the road leading past the Residency. The track, 1¾ miles round is considered one of the best in India. The big Race Meeting is held in July, with Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter Meetings thrown in whenever practicable. The Gymkhana Club's Races are also held here. Various improvements were made to the Grand Stand and first enclosure in 1912 and the Turf track was also widened. The Secretary is Mr. H Donne.

THE GENERAL MARKET.—Is situated at the junction of Broadway and New Market Roads, and is enclosed by long rows of miscellaneous shops, stores, etc. A new range of buildings were completed in 1912 for the "Evening Bazaar" which adjoins the Market and which is called "Richards Square.", The road known as New Market Road, was closed from the north and south sides and traffic diverted by the west of the Lady Curzon Hospital. New gates presented by Mr. Ahmed Sait, were fixed up at the south entrance to the Bowring and Curzon Hospitals. The construction of a market better suited to the present requirements of the people is in contemplation by the Municipality opposite to the present one. J. Sawsman, Market Sergeant.

IMPERIAL SERVICE TRANSPORT LINES.—These buildings are the head-quarters of the Mysore Government Transport Service, and were completed in 1903. They are on the Tumkur Road, two miles out of Bangalore. The grounds attached to the building are well kept.

STATUE OF QUEEN VICTORIA—This monument (by Sir Thomas Brock), was erected from contributions by H. H. the Maharaja of Mysore, his people, and the residents of the Civil and Military Station in memory of the late Queen-Empress of India It stands at the south-east entrance of Cubbon Park, not far from St. Mark's Church, and was unveiled by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales (now King George V) in February 1906. The Statue is of white marble, while the pedestal, which is 13 feet high, is of Mysore grey granite. It is enclosed by a circle of ornamental railings and four obsolete cannons have been placed in position around it.

RICHMOND TOWN PARK.—Is a small piece of fenced ground laid out with flower beds and paths, in charge of the Station Municipality. It is provided with a Bandstand, but no band plays there now and it is resorted to mostly by pensioners, ayahs and the children of Richmond Town There is a Municipal Nursery garden established here now.

SESHADRI MEMORIAL HALL —Erected by public subscription aggregating over a lakh of rupees, the memory of the late Rajadhurandhara Sir K Seshadri Iyer, K C S.I., a former Dewan of Mysore, who ruled the destinies of the State for 18 years, from 1883 to 1901 with conspicuous success, is located at the south-west end of the Cubbon Park. The memorial includes a bronze statue of the deceased statesman, by Colton, unveiled in November 1913 by H. E. Lord Hardinge, Viceroy and Governor General of India, and a Public Library This large and excellently situated building has been in use for the last 3 years, the Cosmopolitan Club occupying a portion of it and the Sloyd Classes and Educational Museum, which have been recently vacated in favour of the newly established Mechanical School of Engineering, the rest, without prejudice, of course, to the occasional use of the building for such other public purposes as meetings, etc.

SIR K. SESHADRI IYER'S STATUE.– This is a bronze statue representing the late Sir K. Seshadri Iyer, K.C.S.I., in his Durbar dress. It is erected in front of the Memorial Hall which stands in a conspicuous part of the Cubbon Park amidst charming surroundings and on a lawn tastefully laid out with excellent roads and approaches all round. The unveiling ceremony was performed on the 20th November 1913, by H. E. Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, who admitted that the statue is a rare work of art. The statue is a faithful likeness of the great statesman whom it is intended to commemorate. It was made in England by W. R. Colton, a sculptor of acknowledged reputation, and stands on a pedestal designed by the late P. B. Raghavalu Naidu of the Palace Improvement Division. It is 6 feet in height. All expenses, including the statue, cost the Committee nearly Rs. 25,000.

THE STATION PUBLIC OFFICES.– Are adjacent to the Mayo Hall with entrances on the ground floor from the South Parade and Residency Roads. The building, which is a handsome structure, is in the Florentine style and is one storey high. BELLARY.

The district of Bellary (Valahari) lies between latitudes 14° 14' and 15° 57' and longitude 75° 45' and 77° 40' with an area, including the Sandur State, of 5,713 sq miles, and a population of 862 370 (according to the 1921 Census) Languages spoken in the district are Canarese, Telugu and Hindustani. It is bounded on the north by H H the Nizam's Territory, from which it is divided by the Tungabhadra river, on the south west and south by the Mysore country, on the east by the districts of Anantapur and Kurnool, and on the west by Mysore and the districts of Dharwar in the Bombay Presidency. The height of the plateau averages from 800 to 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The western taluq are the highest, as the country there gradually slopes towards the western ghats. In the southern taluq, also, as the table-land of Mysore is reached, the elevation is not considerable. The soil in the eastern taluqs is largely composed of the celebrated regada or black cotton soil. In the western taluqs, there are patches of the same soil, but the red soil predominate, and, in the neighbourhood of hills, good gravel is found.

The general aspect is that of an extensive plateau, elevated on the shoulders of the western and eastern ghats, the plain of which forms a considerable angle with the horizon inclining towards the east coast of the peninsula Thus at Belgaum, in the South Mahratta country, the height of the plain is 2,568 feet above the level of the sea, at Bellary it is 1,600 feet The western ghats clearly form the anticlinal line to which the arenaceous and histous eastern ranges are more or less conformable The plain has another and more gentle dip towards the north, to the beds of the Kistna and Tungabhadra rivers. The bed of the Tungabhadra is a little more than 1 000 feet above the level of the sea, the plain rises as we proceed south, and, in the centre of the district, it is 1,500 feet and on the Mysore frontier in the south, 2,223 feet above the sea. To the centre of the district the surface of the plain presents a monotonous and almost treeless extent, bounded by the horizon, and unbroken, save by a few rocky elevations that stand forth abruptly from the sheet of black soil like rocks from the ocean Of this tract, Sir T. Munro wrote " These districts are more destitute of trees than any part of Scotland I ever saw; the traveller scarcely meets with one in twenty miles and nowhere with a clump of fifty " Since this was written large sums of money have been spent in planting topes and trees and some success has been attained. The town of Bellary itself is fairly well wooded, and, along all the roads in the district, avenues have been planted The Sandur hills are covered with a good growth, though the trees are nowhere very large yet Almost every variety of tree known in S. India can be found on these hills In the Kudligi Taluq there are large areas now under reservation, containing a fair growth of small forest.

In the reign of Krishna Raya of Vijayanagar, a small fort was built at Bellary by Timmappa, a dependant of that king. He and his son Rangappa held it for many years, paying an annual tribute of Rs. 1,000. After the battle of Talikota, Bellary became subject to the Mohammedan sovereigns of Bijapur, but the successors of Rangappa Naick were almost independent, and in 1650 Hanumappa his grandson, defeated the descendant of the Vijayanagar Rajas, who claimed tribute from him, in a battle which was fought near Kampli. For another century the feud went on between the Rajas of Bellary, as they now styled themselves, and their former masters After a time, Bellary became part of the possessions of the Nizam and was included in the Jaghir of Adoni which had been given to

E. A. WATCH COY., Madras. The House For West-End Watches.

Basalat Jung, the Nizam's brother. In 1769 Safdar Jung and M. Bussey were sent from Adoni to collect the tribute, which the Poligar had for some years refused to pay. The Poligar rashly called Hyder Ali to his aid, who reached Bellary by forced marches, and engaged and defeated the army of Basalat Jung, in the plain at the foot of the rock. Doddappa Naick, the Poligar, who had watched the contest from the top of the rock, fled by night to Sholapur, and Hyder took possession. He spent much money on the fortifications, and, with the assistance of some French adventurers, who were in his camp, he built the upper and the lower forts much as they now are. Tradition adds, that at the completion of the work these Frenchmen were hanged near the fort gate, because Hyder then for the first time discovered that the other rock was the higher, and that from it his stronghold could be commanded. Bellary was held by Hyder Ali and afterwards by Tippu till 1792, when, by the partition treaty of 1792, it fell to the Nizam. The rock round which Bellary town is built is a huge granitic mass, rising somewhat abruptly from the plain. It is about 450 feet above the level of the plain, and nearly two miles in circumference. To the east and south, the appearance presented is that of a heap of boulders irregularly piled one on the other, but, to the west, it slopes down more gradually and offers an unbroken surface of sheet rock. To the north is a smaller detached mass of rocks.

The climate of Bellary is characterized by extreme dryness, in consequence of the air passing over such an extent of heated plains. Less rain is supposed to fall at Bellary than at any other place in South India. The quantity of moisture in the air, as indicated by the hydrometer, is exceedingly minute, though the air is remarkable for its transparency. More rain falls in the taluqs bordering on the Tungabhadra. From the situation of the district, almost in the centre of the peninsula, it benefits by both monsoons, and yet does not get the full force of either. From the commencement of November to the end of May rain rarely falls, though sometimes, in April and May, there are violent thunderstorms and much atmospheric disturbance. In the first week in June, the south-west monsoon is looked for, and, with the first few heavy showers, the hot weather is at an end. About 5 inches of rain fall in this month and July. Towards the end of September, the wind veers round to the north, and south the middle of October. The district is visited by the north-east monsoon. The average rainfal in September and October, is 9½ inches

The cool season begins in the month of November, at the close of the north-east monsoon. During this period the wind is steady from the north-east and the weather is extremely pleasant. In the early mornings the thermometer is often as low as 62°, but the usual daily range is from 67° to 83°. The atmosphere is clear and the nights very cool. Towards the end of February, the weather begins to get hot, and early in March, the country presents an altered appearance. As the month advances the hot west winds set in vegetation disappears, all the grass is burned up, and the country resembles a dreary waste. In the black cotton country the soil, baked as hard as a stone, is split in all directions by cracks and fissures, from one to three feet in depth. In the other taluks dust-storms are of frequent occurrence. The atmosphere glows intensely, and the glare, increased by the white and sparkling nature of the ground, is most distressing. The tanks rapidly dry up and expose beds of slime and decomposing mud. The nights are generally calm, and the atmosphere is stagnant and oppressive to a degree. Towards the end of May, the heat is almost insupportable. At midnight even, the thermometer sometimes marks 100° Fahr., and glass and wood crack simply from the heat. In the day time the house can be cooled by cuscus, tatties, but after sunset the hot wind usually fails. At the end of the month, or in the beginning of June, heavy clouds begin to gather in the south-west, and generally after a few days of oppressive stillness, the approach of the monsoon is heralded by two or three violent thunderstorms. These, cool and refresh the air, and the hot weather is at an end. The interval between the two monsoons is generally very pleasant. The days are cloudy and the air fresh and agreeable. September is usually close and oppressive and this lasts till the rain falls. For three months of the year the heat is excessive, but the remaining nine months are comparatively cool and pleasant.

CHINGLEPUT.

The District of Chingleput derives its name from the Town Chingleput. The Town in Tamil is made up of two words "Chengalvam and pattan," Chengalvam means red lotus, as it was a town full of red lotuses, which also now continue, though not in abundance. The district encloses the city of Madras, and comprises the seven taluqs of Chingleput, Conjeeveram, Madurantakam, Ponneri, Saidapet, Tiruvallur and Sriperumbudur, with an area of 3,071 square miles, and population of 1,498,058, the majority of whom are engaged in agriculture. There are 22,225 weavers, a third of whom reside in and about Conjeeveram. The languages of the district are Tamil and Telugu The Palar is the chief river in the district. Parts of the Chingleput and Madurantakam taluqs are undoubtedly pretty, presenting undulating plains varied bridged or conical hills. These taluqs are well-known as snipe grounds. Snipes are found from October, till the end of March. The South Indian Railway Company has two lines in the district one short branch, 18¾ miles, connects Conjeeveram with Arkonam, another runs from Madras southwards, passing on its way through St. Thomas' Mount, Pallavaram, Chingleput and Madurantakam.

Chingleput is the chief town of the district and here are the offices of the District Judge and Sub-Collector, but the Head-quarters of the Collectorate are at Saidapet. The Fort, which is Chingleput's chief characteristic, was erected after the fall of the Vijayanagar power about the end of the 16th century. It passed out of the possession of its original constructors, the Hindus, into the hands of the Mahomedans, and, in 1751, it was taken by Chanda Saib from Mahomed Ali, when, with the aid of the French, he invaded the Carnatic. In 1752, a French force sallied from it and made a fruitless attempt to prevent the capture of Covelong by Capt Clive, who, after reducing the place marched on Chingleput and took it. With the advent of peace, a jail was established and in 1887, the fort was practically handed over to the Educational department for the purpose of a Reformatory School. This school is intended for the juvenile offenders of the Presidency, who are sent there by the Magistracy, usually for petty offences, theft, etc. The staff consists of a Superintendent who is the Medical Officer of the District, a Deputy Superintendent, who is the chief and permanent executive officer, and who is a member of the Provincial Educational Service. The present Superintendent is W. O. Fonseca There is no Deputy Superintendent now There is also a staff of teachers and trained instructor-maistries The boys are taught carpenter's, blacksmith's and rattan work, tailoring, weaving, etc. There is also a band and bugle class. Great attention is paid to physical and moral training, and when the boys leave the institution they are provided with appointments through the help of the District Magistrate. The work of the institution is unique, and it is well worth a visit, it differs from similar institutions in other parts of India, inasmuch as the boys are treated in a manner akin to that of a Boarding School There are two High Schools in the town the Native High School and the U. F. C. M High School.

PRINCIPAL PLACES OF INTEREST.

The Seven Pagodas on the coast, which can be approached by road from Chingleput, are at a distance of 18 miles. These are monolithic temples, Dravidian in character, and are certainly anterior to the 7th century B. C. No traveller should fail to visit these works of the sculptor's art.

Tirukalikundram, or the hill of the sacred kites, is situated half-way between Chingleput and the sea coast It is a ridge terminating in a spiked hill, on which stand the remains of a quaint temple of great antiquity, and dedicated to Siva. Every day two birds of the kite species come to the hill to be fed by an attendant Pandaram. They are said to come from Benares Conjeeveram lies 22 miles west of Chingleput. The native name of the place is Kanchi or golden city ,(or the place where Brahma worshipped Vishnu) and Siva is said to have exclaimed that " of all town Kanchi is best. There is a large weaving community, and fine country cloths of all kinds are still manufactured there in large quantities. Conjeeveram is the most sacred city in the South of India. There are three important temples, the oldest is dedicated to Siva, the second to Vishnu, and the third to the "loving.eyed " Parvati, the wife of Siva. The town has always been celebrated for its fine wide streets and pleasant appearance, it possesses a good water-supply, the water being pumped from a fine well situated in the middle of the Vegavathy, a tributary of the Palar river. It is an important municipal town in the district.

Sriperumbudur is situated about 25 miles to the west of Madras. It is noted as the birth-place of the famous Sri Ramanuja Chariar of the Vaishnava sect.

Wallajahbad is situated on the Palar between Conjeeveram and Chingleput. It was a Military Cantonment for many years, but the mortality became so great that the place received the name of "the grave of Europeans."

"AMRUTANJAN" always leads-others merely follow.

Pollilore a village ten miles north west of Conjeeveram, was twice the scene of battle between the English and Hyder Ali. It was in the first battle in 1780 that the English sustained the most crushing defeat ever inflicted on them in India. In the following year, Hyder gave battle at the same place and was defeated by Sir Eyre Coote. On the field are two tombs of officers who were killed in the second battle Madurantakam is situated on the Great Southern Trunk Road, at the 50th mile stone from Madras. The Railway passes the town. The majority of the landholders are Vaishnavite Brahmins. The only noteworthy feature of the place is its very fine tank.

Karunguli is two miles from Madurantakam The most interesting historic monument is the fort the origin of which appears to be Mahomedan; about 1750 it passed into the hands of the French, when Dupleix espoused the cause of Chanda Sahib. In 1759, Sir Eyre Coote marched against it unsuccessfully, but, in the year following, it fell into the hands of Hyder. In 1781, Sir Eyre, who was at Chingleput, sent Capt. Davis with 1,000 men to occupy it, which he did by blowing open the gateways. The Madurantakam tank, one of the largest in the South, which was formed towards the end of the 18th century by damming up the Kiliyar river, commemorate the name of Place, the Collector, under whose auspices it was constructed. His house at Karunguli is now used as a Travellers' Bungalow.

Saidapet Taluk.—The rivers that flow through this taluk are—

1. The Cortelliar, which falls into the Ennore backwater.
2. The Cooum, after supplying the Chembrambakam tank, flows through the town of Madras into the Sea.

The Adyar which falls to the South of Mylapore, a suburb of Madras.

The Red Hill tank depends for its supply on a channel taken off from an anicut across the Cortelliar. The water first flows into the Sholavaram tank, and then through a regulating sluice into a channel for its conveyance to the Northern end of the Red Hills tank Water is conveyed to the City of Madras by a closed conduit. During the hot months water often becomes scarce and has to be pumped.

Saidapet is five miles from Fort St. George and is the head-quarters of the Collector. Of late years it has become an educational centre, with the establishment of the Teachers' College.

Guindy is about a mile-and-a-half south of Saidapet The Governor of Madras has a residence and an extensive Park here. The King Institute, for bacteriological investigations and the manufacture of vaccine, is located in Guindy. Here is located the Madras Race Course.

Poonamallee is situated on the Western Trunk Road, 13 miles from Madras It was established as a Cantonment for the purpose of receiving European invalids It is still used as a sanitarium fo British Troops

Tiruvallur.—At the Northern end of this taluk the Nagalapuram and Sattiyavedu Hills relieve the flatness of it—Kambakam Drug, the highest point, is 2,548 feet above the level of the sea. The Cooum has its source principally in the surplus waters of the tank of the same name. Red handkerchiefs and Mussulman cloths are manufactured in the Sattiyavedu Division, and are sent to Bangalore. Tiruvellur is the chief town of the taluk. The temple (Viraraghavar), at each new moon, attracts crowds of Pilgrims from Madras, to whom it would appear the greatest sin, if they were prevented from paying their devotions, and performing their ablutions.

CHITALDRUG—MYSORE.

A District in the North of the Mysore State, between 13° 35′ and 15° 2′ N. Lat.; and 75° 8′ and 77° 2′ E. Long. Area 4,022 square miles. Languages:—Telugu and Canarese.

Taluks:—CHALLAKERE, CHITALDRUG, DAVENGERE, HIRIYUR, HOLALKERE, JAGALUR, MOLAKALMURU AND HOSDURGA. For Staging Bungalows, etc., See separate section, Harihar (Sub-Taluk).

CHITALDRUG is the chief town of the District of the same name, situated to the North of the Mysore Province; the M. and S. M. Railway traverses the district. Chitaldrug is 24 miles from the Holalkere railway station and 126 miles North-West of Bangalore, on the Bangalore-Harihar road. The town is surrounded with a line of old fortifications. The Mahal or palace in the inner fort, built by Tippoo Sultan, is used as the Veterinary Hospital. Before it was an enormous trough for watering elephants, which was found on the hill, and was cut from a single stone. To the west, in a rugged and picturesque group of hills, is the Ankli math. This is a curious series of subterranean chambers, now regularly built round with masonry. In them are shrines, lingams, baths and pedestals, the style of the architecture is about 500 years old, but the caverns no doubt existed long before. About 6 miles south of Chitaldrug is Jog matte, a hill 4,000 feet above sea-level. It is a convenient resort from the intense heat of hot months.

CHITTOOR.

The District of Chittoor was constituted with effect from 1st April 1911. It comprises the taluks of Chittoor, Palmaner and Chundragiri transferred from the old North Arcot district and of Madanapalle and Vayalpad transferred from the old Cuddapah district as well as the Zamindaries of Punganur-Kalahasti and Karvetnagar. It is bounded on the North by the Anantapur, Cuddapah and Nellore districts; on the East by the Nellore and Chingleput districts; on the South by the North Arcot district; and on the West by the Mysore State. It covers an extent of 5,611 square miles. Its population is 1,269.157 at the census of 1921. Chittoor with a population of 237,737 is the head-quarters of the district but is not the most important town in the district. The other important places in the district are Tirupati (16,701) a place of pilgrimage well-known throughout India, Madanapalle (141,810), Kalahasti (109,391), also a place of pilgrimage, and Punganur (109,391). Tirupati and,

E. A. WATCH COY., Madras. The House For West-End Watches.

Chittoor are two Municipalities in the district; its average income from local taxation is Rs. 21,800 and 27,970 respectively. Pakala and Renigunta are important railway junctions.

The chief languages of the district are Telugu and Tamil, the former being the language of 78 per cent. of the population, Kanarese is spoken by a considerable number namely 13,975 and 8,947 people speak Mahratti Abovt 94 percent of the people are Hindus and 5 per cent Muhammadans.

Industries —There are two bell-metal Factories at Kalahasti. Brassware at Tirupati shows signs of revival Indigo cultivation is on the increase especialy in Karvetnagar.

COCHIN STATE.

Description and Position.—Cochin (Vernacular-Kochi) is a Native State in subsidiary alliance with the British Government and politically connected with the Presidency of Madras. It is said to be called after the town of that name, formerly its Capital, where in 1502 the Portuguese were allowed to settle and erect a Fort. In 1663 it was captured by the Dutch, and from them the British took possession of it and it is now a British possession The State lies between 9° 48′ and 10° 50′ N. Lat., and 76° 5′ and 76° 58′ E. Long. It is bounded on the north by British Malabar, on the east by British Malabar, Coimbatore and Travancore, on the south by Travancore, and on the west by British Malabar and the Arabian Sea. The area of the State is 1,417¾ square miles, according to the recent survey of the State. The Total Population, of the State according to the Census of 1921 is about 9,79,019.

Divisions.—For administrative purposes Cochin is divided into five taluks, viz, Cochin-Kanayannur, Mukundapuram, Trichur, Talapilli and Chittur In addition to these, there is also the small principality of Cranganur under a Chief, paying tribute to Cochin This principality is financially autonomous, but is in all other respects administered as one of the taluks of the State.

Physical feature.—The Cochin State is naturally divided into three well-defined parts or zones—the hills, the plains, and the seaboard. The hilly or eastern portion, which covers nearly half the extent of the State, is broken by long spurs, extensive ravines, forests and tangled jungles rising, terrace by terrace, to an elevation of 5,000 feet above the sea level. It is covered with magnificent forests of teak and other valuable trees, and exhibits everywhere a splendid luxuriance of foliage and flowers. Stretching westward, in gentler slopes and gradually widening valleys, but broken here and there by isolated low hills, the plains succeed forest-clad uplands. Intersected by numerous rivers and streams, dotted everywhere with homes and farmsteads, and closely cultivated wherever possible, these plains stretch towards the backwaters, in a succession of gentle undulations. Between the backwaters and the sea is the long and narrow stretch of sandy seaboard, densely covered with luxuriant cocoanut palms, and, in parts, where there are natural or artificial embankments, large quantities of rice are grown. It is low and generally swampy and, in several parts, liable to be flooded during the monsoon inundations.

Political relation.—The State is governed by the Maharaja as its hereditary King, with the Dewan appointed by him as his chief Minister and advised in all important matters by a British Political Officer called the Agent to the Governor General Madras States and has political relations with the India Government. The Maharajah's powers are limited only by the Regulations passed by himself and by the treaty obligations with the British Government, the powers exercised by his officers being but those delegated by him by legislative enactments or by special rules or orders. The Dewan is the responsible minister of the Maharaja and the Chief Executive Officer of the State and he is primarily responsible for the official and progressive administration of the State.

History.—The Maharaja of Cochin traces back his descent from the last of the Cheraman Perumals and possessed extensive territories The Maharaja lost a considerable portion of his territories in the struggle between the adjoining States in the middle of the 18th century. The Town of Cochin is historically important as being the first European Settlement in India where the Portuguese were allowed to erect a fort by the Raja of Cochin in 1503. In 1663 the Dutch expelled the Portuguese and became masters of the place. The British in their turn drove away the Dutch and took their possessions in 1793. Ever since it remains with the former The State of Cochin has a Colony of Jews who migrated there so early as the first century after Christ. Tradition has it that the Apostle St. Thomas landed at Malankara, near Cranganur, about 52 A.D.

Ranges of Hills.—The chief ranges of hills are the Nelliampathies with Parambikulam and the Pothundi in the Chittur taluk, the Machad in the Talapilli taluk, the Paravattani in the Trichur taluk, the Palapilli, Kodasseri, and Adarapilli in the Mukundapuram taluk, and Malayattur in the Cochin Kanayanur taluk. Nellikotta or Padagiri on the Nelliampathies, which is 5,000 feet. high, is the loftiest peak in the State.

E. A. WATCH COY., Madras. The House For West-End Watches.

Rivers.—The chief rivers are the Alwaye or Periyar, the Chalakudi, the Kuramali, the Manali, the Ponnani, and the Anamalai. Besides these there are several minor streams. There is a picturesque waterfall, of nearly 150 feet at Adarapilli

Backwaters.—One of the most striking physical features of the country is the continuous chain of lagoons or backwaters, running parallel to the sea, and receiving the drainage of the numerous streams descending from the Western Ghats. They are very irregular in form, with a breadth which ranges between four miles and a few dozen yards, branch out into a number of intricate and shallow channels, and contain several low alluvial islands. They communicate with the sea at three points—Cochin, Cranganur and Chetwai. Though these backwaters are shallow in most places, navigation is at all times possible for flat-bottomed passenger and cargo boats. In places where they are very deep, navigation during the monsoon season is often dangerous and tedious. There are also two extensive fresh-water lakes, which are connected with each other, the Enammakal and the Manakudi The other lakes are Cochin, Kaithapuzha, and Chathanad, which are salt-water

Ports.—The ports of Cochin, excluding the port of Cochin which lies entirely in the British district of Malabar, are Malipuram, Narakal and Cranganur. The port of Cochin though it belongs to the British Government is described here, as almost all the whole sea-borne trade of the State passes through this port and its improvement and development are of more importance to Native Cochin than to British Malabar. The port consists of an outer roadstead and an inner harbour with a large expansion of backwater behind it, where vessels of great draught can be conveniently accommodated when the sea is very rough This can be done only if the bar at the mouth of the harbour is removed and if it is done, Cochin can be made one of the finest harbours in the world. As it is, it is the third largest trading port in Southern India. Malipuram and Narakal are open roadsteads, which are generally resorted to only during the monsoon months, when the shipping from Cochin takes refuge at the mud-bank of Narakal.

Islands.—The chief among the islands are Kumbalangi, Kumbalom, Venduruthy, Bolghatty, Kadamakudi and Panambakad. At the southern extremity of Bolghatty is situated the British Residency, commanding a grand view on its three sides and overlooking the Cochin Harbour.

Soil and Climate—The prevailing geological formation of the eastern zone is gneiss, which decomposes into a soil, which, in combination with the climate, is eminently suited to promote a luxuriant forest growth. Proceeding westwards, the formation merges into a laterite underlain by gneiss, and becomes sandy on the seaboard. The climate, though damp and enervating, is not particularly unhealthy. It is most moist and enervating in the southern taluks, which are situated by the sea and the backwaters, but less so in the northern taluks. Of all parts of the State, the Chittur taluk, situated within the Palghat gap, has the driest and most bracing climate. The lower hills and parts of Chittur are feverish, especially during the dry months.

Flora and Fauna.—The forests abound in teak, rosewood, blackwood, ebony, white cedar, red cedar Irul (X. dolabriformis), Aini (A. hirsutta), Vedankorana (B. xylocarpa), Venga (P. marsupium), Pongu (C. bracteatum), Veembu (K. clycina), Venteak (L. lanceolata), Mailellu (V. altissima), Elavu (B. malabaricum) and other trees and plants of commercial and medicinal value. Coffee and cardamoms are grown on the Nelliampathies. The flora of the laterite plains consist of jack, mango, areca palms banana, and various species of plantain. The cocoanut palm is the chief growth of the seaboard. The forests of Cochin contain all the larger animals of South India. Elephant and bison are common in the Parambikulam Range, and, to a smaller extent, in the Kodasseri Range. Ibex are seen occasionally in the higher ranges of the Nelliampathies The tiger, bear, cheetah, leopard, hyæna and sambhar, with many varieties of deer, are met with in all the forests. The true hunting leopard and wolf are said to be found in some of the jungles. Monkeys and birds are abundant, both in the hills and the plains, as also are snakes and other reptiles. Fish of various tribes and species abound in the rivers and backwaters.

Arts, Manufactures and Industries.—Cotton weaving is carried on to some extent in Chittur and Talapilli taluks There are a few fly shuttle looms in Trichur. There laced and unlaced cloths of fine texture are manufactured. Grass mats, of exquisite colouring and texture, are made in Wadakancherry. They are highly admired and are in great demand. Coir matting, ropes and rugs of good quality are made in Ernakulam and Mattancherry. The most important factory industry is the extraction of cocoanut oil by steam mills, all in the Cochin-Kanayanoor taluk. There are nearly a dozen factories of tile and brick works (Mangalore pattern) in the state. There are also steam saw-mills and a hydraulic press. Agriculture is the chief occupation of the people. Cultivation of coffee, tea and rubber is carried on in the forests

Education --The necessity for a system of imparting State education was recognised by Government so far back as the year 1818 by establishing 33 Vernacular Schools in the several Proverthies or villages of the State with the avowed object of training up young men for State Service, as Writers and Accountants, giving instructions in the three R.'s and Astrology and Sanskrit to advanced pupils. The first attempt to introduce the study of the English language was made by a Missionary, Rev. J. Dawson, by opening a school at Mattancherry in 1818 in aid of which he received a grant from the Sircar. This school had to be closed within three years for want of pupils. In 1835 another school was opened where children of the Jews were taught English, Hebrew and Malayalam. This School is still in existence. Two years later, an English School was opened at Trichur and another at Tripunithura for the education of the Princes and others. The 'Free school' established at Ernakulam in 1845 was afterwards raised to the standard of a High School in 1865 and was placed in charge of an European Head Master, Mr. A. F. Sealy, M.A., with whose name is associated the progress of English education in the State. The liberal policy followed by the Dewan, Mr. Sankunni Menon, C.S.I., contributed not a little towards the education of His Highness' subjects. During his Dewanship the High School was raised to the standard of a Second Grade College in 1874. In 1897 District Schools were opened in all the taluks and a Director of Education in the person of Mr. Sealy was also appointed. Grant-in-aid rules were framed in 1899. A great impetus was given to the education of the masses by the organization of the Department of Vernacular Education in 1890. State Schools were opened for boys and girls in most of the Proverthies and a large number of indigenous schools were brought into the aided lists. In the beginning of 1892, the Vernacular and English Departments were amalgamated and placed under the control of a Superintendent of Education. In 1898 the High Schools, both Sirkar and private, were removed from the control of the Superintendent and placed directly under the Dewan.

The altered conditions under the new educational system rendered the introduction of a variety of reforms in this important branch of the Administration and with this object in view the State obtained the services of a special Educational Officer, Mr. J. Van Someren Pope, M.A., retired British Director of Education in Burma. The main lines of reforms introduced by Government were fully dealt with in the Dewan's Press communique (February 1908) and are, the introduction of free Primary education for girls and backward classes throughout the State, opening of night schools for the labouring classes, institution of free scholarships to backward classes throughout the State, institution of free scholarships in the Secondary Schools, revision of the existing grant-in-aid rules on a liberal scale, opening of a training school for female teachers, adoption of increased scale of pay for Primary and Girls' school teachers and the opening of an Industrial and Technical Institute.

Religious and Charitable Institutions.—The Devaswoms or Hindu religious institutions under the State are of two kinds, viz., Incorporated and Unincorporated Devaswoms whose properties and whose revenues and expenditure were completely merged in the general revenues and expenditure of the State are termed 'Incorporated Devaswoms' The Devaswoms whose properties and receipts were not amalgamated with those of the State but were kept separate and the expenditure met from those receipts are called 'Unincorporated' Devaswoms. In the case of the former set of Devaswoms, since the expenditure exceeded the receipts, there was no balance available and excess expenditure had to be met from the general revenues of the State. In the case of Unincorporated Devaswoms they were self supporting, while a majority of them had incomes considerably exceeding the expenditure and thus they had a tolerably good sum as balance to their credit. There was thus a great disparity in the financial position of the two classes of Devaswoms. With a view to place this branch of administration on a satisfactory footing and to make it self-supporting as far as possible. His Highness' Government devised a completely new scheme of Devaswom Administration, and brought it into force in September 1909 By this scheme all Devaswoms under Sircar management, Incorporated and Unincorporated, were amalgamated and constituted into a separate endowment, the several Devaswoms being thus made component and inter-dependent parts of a whole, instead of being the isolated units that they were. This involved the restoration of the properties and monies of such of the institutions as were annexed to the Sircar, nearly a century ago, and the creation of a separate trust fund. For administrative purposes the Devaswoms are divided into four groups. The receipts and expenditure of the Devaswoms were entirely separated from the general revenues by the Devaswoms are allowed to bank with the State Treasuries. The Pathivu or customary scale of expenditure in all Devaswoms was revised and a uniform system of collection of revenue, control of expenditure and maintenance of accounts were introduced. Oottupuras.—These are feeding houses where gratuitous meals are given to Brahmans. There were 15 of them till 1902 In the reorganisation of these institutions 4 of them were abolished and sumptuous meals were arranged to be served to all bona-fide travellers in all the Oottupuras except Tripunithura where the residents are also fed in the morning. There are also 2 Oottupuras where conjee is served for a few months in a year. These institutions cost the Sircar nearly half a lakh of rupees per annum. Water Pandals.—The State is everywhere dotted with water pandals where butter-milk flavoured with salt and limejuice, &c., is gratuitously served to the wayworn travellers during the hot season.

Commerce.—The chief exports are cocoanut-oil, coir yarn, rope fibre and matting, cocoanut, copra, oil-cake, timber, coffee, lemon-grass oil, ginger, pepper, fish and prawns The chief imports are rice and paddy, cotton piece-goods, raw cotton and twist yarn, metals, cutlery, hardware, sugar, kerosine-oi and salt. Kunnamkulam is the centre of trade in arecanuts.

Tramway.—The approximate area of the Cochin forests is nearly six hundred square miles. about half of which are virgin forests, unworked for want of a suitable outlet. From the Parambikulam Range an outlet in the shape of a tramway and timberslide has been constructed by the Government, up to Chalakudy, a station on the Shoranur-Cochin Railway, a distance of nearly 50 miles This line is now considered as one of the biggest and best equipped tramway designed for purely forest work in the world, and it possesses many features of special interest to engineers, arboriculturists and railway men generally.

Railway.—A branch line of railway (Metre Gauge) was opened in July 1902, from Shoranur to Ernakulam, the capital of the State. The line, 64·8 miles, cost nearly 71 lakhs of rupees, and is now worked by the South Indian Railway Company. There are 17 stations on the line.

Roads and Communications.—There are in all about 500 miles of metalled road maintained by the State, besides the unmetalled. The backwaters, also, afford easy communication with several parts of the State. There are some navigable canals also which afford communication.

Cranganur.—Cranganur, situated near the sea on the right bank of the Periyar river, is the seat of an ancient principality. The Chief is a Kshatriya by caste and gets a fixed allowance from the Cranganur Treasury for his own maintenance and the maintenance of other members of his family. It has an area of 18¾ square miles. It is a very densely peopled tract. It is financially autonomous, but in all other respects it is administered as an integral part of the State. The Chief pays a tribute of Rs. 6,857 to Cochin.

Cranganur is a place of great historical interest, though it is now of little importance. It once possessed an excellent harbour and was an important centre of commerce, trading with the West even before the Christian era. In the first century of the Christian era Pliny described it as "the first emporium in India." During this period and for some centuries afterwards it was the seat of the Perumals or the early kings of Kerala before its dismemberment. The Jews and the Christians got their first footing here and founded towns long before the Portuguese discovered a direct route to India. Here the Portuguese built a fort in 1523. The fort was renovated by the Dutch when the Portuguese power fell to their prowess. Ruins of an old fort are now visible. One branch of the Periyar river and the Chalakkudy river empty themselves at the Cranganur bar. The temple at Cranganur is known throughout the West Coast and is dedicated to 'Sri Kurumba Bhagavathy.' At the time of the annual festival known as 'Kodungallore Bharani' thousands of pilgrims assemble here. The members of the Chief's family are well versed in Sanskrit. One of them, Raja Valia Goda Varma Raja, is the recipient of the title of Mahamahopadhyaya, conferred in recognition of his high attainments in Sanskrit learning.

Revenue.—The gross revenue of the State under all ordinary receipt heads for the official year 1099, M.E. 1923-1924 excluding the principality of Cranganur was Rs. 61,99,284.

Languages.—Malayalam, the Vernacular and the official language of the State, is spoken by the Majority of the people, but Tamil, Telugu, Konkani (a dialect of Maratti, Canarese and Tulu are also spoken.

Towns—The chief towns in the State are Ernakulam, Trichur, Mattancherry, Chittur-Thattamangalam, Tripunithura, Irinjalakuda and Kunnamkulam A Municipal Regulation has recently been introduced by Government and four towns were brought under it. They are Ernakulam Trichur, Mattancherry and Chittur-Tattamangalam.

Ernakulam.—Ernakulam is the capital of the State and is the terminus of the State Railway. The principal buildings are the Huzur Secretariat, the Chief Court, the District Court, the District Munsiff's Court, the Magistrate's Court, the offices of the Diwan Peishkar, the Tahsildar, the Excise Superintendent, the Anchal Superintendent, the Chief Medical and Sanitary Officer, the District Registrar, the Ernakulam College, the General Hospital, the Durbar Hall, and the Guest House. Close to the Railway Station is the Travellers' Bungalow. There are in the town two power mills for the extraction of cocoanut oil and the Burma Oil Company and the Asiatic Petroleum Company have large petroleum installations near the Railway Station The town is supplied with good drinking water from the Alwaye river. There are palaces of His Highness the Raja, a Residential Palace for the young Princes, and a temple dedicated to Siva. There are four important churches belonging to several sections of Roman Catholics and also a Protestant Church. Ernakulam is situated on the east side of the back, water, and is 2½ miles off from Cochin. There is a motor launch plying between Ernakulam and Cochin, Six miles to the south-east of Ernakulam is Tripunithura, where His Highness has a palace and the members of the Royal family reside. The most interesting annual function of the place is the Attachamayam in August, which is believed to be the commemoration of a victory gained by Cochin. On the morning of the day His Highness the Raja goes in procession round the town in a palanquin, accompanied by all the State officers and the representatives of the old Chiefs, and with all the paraphernalia of oriental pageantry. When the procession is over, His Highness holds a levee at the Kalikot a place, when all the officers and Chiefs pay their respect to him one by one and receive from him money presents according to a graduated scale. His Highness the Maharaja resides generally in the Hill Palace at Perinainakulam, two miles east of Tripunithura. On the island of Bolghatty, north-west of Ernakulam, is the British Residency in Cochin. There is a very fine old Dutch building with new improvements. The British Residency is located in the most prominent part of the island and commands a view of the harbour and of adjoining islands situated in and around the backwaters.

Mattancherry.—Mattancherry is situated on the western side of the backwater that separates it from Ernakulam It lies to the south of British Cochin and is a centre of considerable export and import trade, which is almost entirely in the hands of Banyas and Kachi Memons from the Bombay Presidency. The retail trade is mostly in the hands of Konkani Brahmans and Baisyas (Baniyans). Mattancherri is said to have been once the capital of the State and contains a spacious old palace of quaint design which was built and presented to the Raja by the Portuguese about the year 1555. It is in this palace that the Rajas of Cochin are installed on the Musnad even now Within the palace there is a temple dedicated to Pazhayanur Bhagavathy. There is a colony of White Jews in Mattancherry. They hold a charter engraved on copper plates granted to them by Bhaskara Ravi Varma, Emperor of Malabar, in 373 A.D. Near the palace there is a synagogue belonging to the White Jews. Among modern institutions of interest are the large and richly endowed Konkani temple of Tirumala Devaswom, and the Women and Children's Hospital. The town also contains a District Munsiff's Court, a Sub-Magistrate's Court, a Police Station, a District Registrar's Office, a Male Dispensary and a High School maintained out of the funds of the Tirumala Devaswom. Owing to the mismanagement of this Devaswom, the Government very recently undertook its management. There is a Leper Asylum in the island of Venduruthy, separated from the mainland by an arm of the back-water.

Trichur.—Trichur is a town of great antiquity and sanctity, and is said to have been founded by Parasu Rama. In the centre of the town and on the summit of a hillock stands the ancient Pagoda of Wadakkunnathan to which many thousands of people annually resort on the occasion of the Trichur Pooram Festival, in the month of Medom (May). On the four sides of the town there are ruins of an old fort and ditch. There are two mutts of Nambudiri Sawmiyars, and there is a Vedic College called the 'Brahmaswam Madam' where gratuitous boarding and instruction are given to Nambudiri youths. Trichur is the headquarters of several Public Offices, viz., the Museum and Zoo the Chief Engineer, the Conservator of Forests, the Comptroller of Accounts, the Superintendent of Police and Commandant of the Nair Brigade, the District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Registration, the Land Record Superintendent, the Agricultural Superintendent, the Devaswom Superintendent, the Director of Education, the District Court, the Magistrate's Court, the Hospital, the Veterinary Hospital the Lunatic Asylum, the High Schools for Boys and Girls, the St Thomas' College (to be 1st Grade from 1925) the Government Industrial and Technical School and the Havelock Market The Central Jail is situated at Viyyoor close to Trichur. There is also a State Museum and Zoological Garden There are four Churches in the town Romo Syrian, Chaldean, Latin and Protestant, and it is also the chief centre of the Church Mission Society's work in the State. His Highness the Raja has a palace built by the Dutch. This palace is surrounded by a fort and a ditch and has two entrances The fort and ditch are not in good condition. There is a Travellers' Bungalow The Kokkalai Canal connects the dock in the Railway Station yard with the backwaters, and provides a means of communication with all the important towns on the West Coast. The Enamakkal Lake is only five miles to the south-west of Trichur is an extensive fresh-water lake where during summer weather (February to April), kole cultivation is carried on on an extensive scale. The water is baled out either by Persian wheels or pumps worked by steam. The lake, viewed from the hillocks situated to the east of it, presents a beautiful sight.

"AMRUTANJAN" an ideal Pain Balm—is the verdict of humanity.

GUNTUR.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the north by the river Kistna; on the south by the Nellore District; on the east by the River Kistna and the Bay of Bengal; and on the west by the Nellore and Kurnool Districts and the River Kistna. Area, 5,735 sq. miles. Population, 1,809,574. Population of the town 254,923. Languages spoken: Telugu and Hindustani.

ONGOLE.—The town lies on the M. & S. M. Ry. line 7 miles off the sea. It has been famous from time immemorial for the best cattle breed. It has the Head-quarters of a Sub-Collector besides other Government and A. B. Mission buildings. The town enjoys a healthy climate with good sanitation under the management of the Municipality.

Chirala Municipality is comprised of the two revenue villages of Perala and Chirala. Its population is 15,323, situated about 4 miles from the sea-coast on the M. & S. M. Ry. This town is one of the great centres of cloth manufacture, exporting direct to Bombay, Aden, and other distant places. In 1920 it was constituted into a Municipality, against the strong opinion of the residents of the place, who, subsequently, as a mark of protest went and lived outside the Municipality.

HYDERABAD (DECCAN).

H. H. THE NIZAM'S DOMINIONS.

The Dominions of His Highness the Nizam lie between 15° 10′ and 21° 40′ North latitude and between 74° 40′ and 81° 35′ East longitude.

They occupy a tract, 82,698 square miles in area, in the central portion of the tableland of the Deccan, which, in the generally accepted sense of the term, refers to that portion of Southern India which is bounded on the north and south by the Nerbudda and the Kistna, and laterally by the Eastern and Western Ghâts. The Dominions are bounded on the north by the district of Khandesh and the river Tapti, which separates them from the district of Berhampur in the Bombay Presidency, and the south by the rivers Tungabhadra and Kistna, forming the northern boundary of the districts of Bellary, Kurnool and Guntur, and by the district of Kistna, all in the Madras Presidency; on the east by the rivers Wardha and Godavari, which flow along the western limits of the districts of Chanda and Sironcha, in the Central Provinces; and on the west by the districts of Dharwar, Kaladgi, Sholapur and Ahmednagar, all in the Bombay Presidency. A portion of the river Sina also forms the western boundary of the Nizam's Dominions, but the taluks of Jamker, Barsi and a part of Kaigam, all in British territory, are to the east of that river Similarly, a part of the river Godavari separates the Nizam's Dominions on the west from British territory, but a few of the Nizam's villages are beyond that river The languages spoken in the Dominions are Hindustani, Telugu, Canarese and Mahrathi.

Physical Features.—The Dominions are a vast plateau of an average elevation of 1,250 feet, though some summits reach 2,500 feet above sea-level The country is geologically and ethnologically divided into two large and almost equal divisions. The Godavari and the Manjira rivers separate these The first of these divisions consists of regions of trappean rocks to the north and west, and the other to the south-east is composed of granite and limestone The former is inhabited by the Mahratta and Kanarese people, whose staple food is wheat and jawari; and the latter is peopled by the Telugus, who subsist chiefly on rice. In this granitic and calcareous region, hills nude of vegetation, brushwood of every description scattered in profusion, detached perpendicular rocks and collections or masses of boulders, which seem to be piled by giant hands, are not scarce. The soil, where formed from the decomposition of these rocks, is generally sandy and hence generally sterile The rivers in this region, too, flow only in the rainy season. The trappean region generally presents a pleasing aspect with its luxurious vegetation and its crags, cliffs and hills The soil derived from the decomposition of this formation—the ordinary black cotton soil and regar—is productive, fertile and impervious. Thus, while the granitic region is suggestive of sterility, the trappean region is synonymous with fertility. Thick jungles and forests are met with, mostly in the valleys of rivers, especially those of the Wardha, the Godavari and the Kistna. There is carboniferous sandstone along the right bank of the Godavari.

Political Divisions.—Land may be divided into distinct heads with regard to administration and collection of revenue —

(1) Sarf-i-Khas lands, assigned to the Sovereign in lieu of cash payments from the public treasury, comprising an area of 7,113 square miles. They consist of an entire district surrounding Hyderabad City (Atraf-i-Balda), two taluks in Aurangabad District, one each in Bhir, Parbhani and Bidar Districts, three in Osmanabad District, three in Gulbarga District, and a few scattered villages. The revenue from these exceeds 41 lakhs of rupees.

(2) Paigah lands, assigned by the Nizam Ali Khan Asaf Jah to Shamsul-Umra Amir-i-Kabir for the maintenance of a body of horse, called "His Highness' Household Troops," comprising about 4,134 square miles.

(3) Khalsa lands, or Divani territory, divided, for administrative purposes, into four Subas, or divisions, which are further sub-divided into districts.

Jaghirs.—As far back as the time of Tamerlane, it had been the custom to bestow jagirs as royal presents upon those who had in any way distinguished themselves by their services to the State. The Jagirs were granted either free of rent, for perpetuity, for life or on condition of rendering military service when required, &c. The jagirdars do not pay any fixed annual tribute to the Government. But those who used to pay Chouth (or a fourth part of their revenue) to the late Mahratta Peshwas, continue to pay the amount to the Nizam's Government from the time they came under it. The jagirs extend over 11,000 square miles, and many jagir villages are scattered over the Government territory

Tributary Chiefs.—The principal tributary chiefs are the Rajahs of Gudwal, Wanparti, Aunagundi, Gopalpet, Amarchinta, and Javalgiri They hold small tracts of country and pay tribute to the Nizam's Government, ranging from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 1,50,000 per annum

Commerce.—The principal imports are: sugar, salt, glass, Englishware, piece-goods, spirits, hardware and cutlery, coffee, tea, saltpetre, mercury, opium, camphor and musk The exports are. carpets, muslins, coal, grain, oilseeds, cotton, honey, wax, coarse woollen cloth and timber.

Industries.—The bulk of the people are engaged in agriculture. The principal manufactures in the country are: steel, manufactured out of iron ores, and once used for making swords and spear heads, carpets and rugs made at Warangal kinkhab, or gold and silver cloth, plain and embroidered muslins, brocades of coloured silk with gold and silver thread, tassa silk, saltpetre, Persian paper and pottery, and bidriware, which is made of an alloy of copper, lead, and tin, or zinc, and inlaid with floral and other decoration in gold or silver.

"AMRUTANJAN" Insist on the genuine and beware of imitations.

The Cave Temples of Ellora.—These cave temples are the largest and most varied of the rock temples in India, and contain some of the finest specimens of Buddhist, Brahmanic and Jaina temples. The village of Ellora is situated about 14 miles to the north-west of Aurangabad, and about 6 miles from Daulatabad, a station on the Nizam's Guaranteed Railway line. There is no bungalow at Ellora; close by, at Roza, there is a luxuriously furnished Guest House, maintained by His Highness the Nizam's Government. The caves are excavated in the scarp of a large plateau and run nearly north and south for a mile and a quarter. At each end, the scarp throws out a horn to the west. The oldest caves, the Buddhistic, are situated at the south end, at the point where the scarp begins to turn to the west. At the other extremity and in the north horn are the Jaina-caves, while the Brahmanic group is between the two. Taking the Kailasa as the centre, 16 caves lie to the south of it, 14 of which are Buddhist—and nearly as many to the north of it are Brahmanic and Jaina. The Buddhist caves of Ellora are all of the Mahayana group, and range in time from 350 to 550 A.D.

Ajunta Caves.—The celebrated Buddhist caves at Ajunta in the Aurangabad District are situated in the Indyadri hills, 4 miles to the north-west of the village. The paintings in the caves comprise scenes of every-day life, such as preparing food, carrying water, buying and selling provisions, hunting scenes, elephant fights, men and women engaged in singing, dancing and playing on musical instruments most vigorously painted upon the walls. Some of the earlier paintings are probably as old as the second century of the Christian era, the majoity belonging to the sixth and seventh centuries.

The hill fort of Golcondah was formerly the seat of Government, and in the fort as well as near it are the far-famed tombs of Golcondah, a series of splendid mausoleums built in oriental style over the departed Sovereigns and Princes of the Golcondah dynasty. The tombs are greatly admired for their extent and beauty.

Climate, &c.—The climate may be said to be good, for it is pleasant and agreeable during the greater part of the year, being between extreme heat and cold. As the country is usually hilly the hot winds are not felt so keenly as in places where there are great sandy arid plains. It is only the south-west monsoon which sets in, in June, and continues till October, that is of any importance whatever to the country, the average rainfall during this monsoon being 30 inches. The rainfall during the south-east monsoon is scanty, and of little benefit to the country, the average being from 4 to 8 inches. Westerly winds blow from June to September, when they change for an easterly direction from October to February; and during March, April and May the winds are north-westerly. The Western Ghats do, in a measure, interfere with the volume of rain that might otherwise fall, but immediately the rain passes the ghats, it increases again, though very gradually.

Hyderabad is the Capital of the Nizam's territories and the seat of Government. It is situated within six miles from the Fort of Golcondah. Its distance from Calcutta is about 1,220 miles, from Madras 460, and from Bombay 470 miles. The City is approached by numerous bridges, gates and posterns, it being surrounded by a stone wall which is in a weak and ruined state. Great improvements have been effected by widening the streets in several parts, and many sanitary arrangements have been introduced.

The following are among numerous buildings at Hyderabad worthy of a visit:—

His Highness' Palaces, namely —Purani Haveli, Chow Mahalle, Baradari; Sirdar Villa at Malakpet and Faluknamah Castle. The Golconda Fort and Tombs; Char Minar, Mecca Musjid; Bashir Bagh, Asmangarh, Sururnagar the Victoria Memorial Orphanage; Shapurwadi; and the Public Gardens.

The British Residency, Chudderghat.

The building in which the British Resident resides is called by this name. It is an elegant edifice in spacious grounds, and is enclosed by a high wall with bastions at the entrance gates. It is situated just north of the City of Hyderabad, the River Musi running in the intervening space.

In the right and left of the building are handsome wings, each containing accommodation sufficient for a large number of guests. The building is handsomely furnished, and has been described as "Oriental only in its magnificence, but perfectly English in its comforts." Opposite the front of the building, which is the entrance for European visitors or noblemen of Hyderabad, is a fine flower garden choicely laid out. In the compound are good houses for the First and Second Assistant Residents, and Escort officer and office accommodation for the Administrative, Printing, Treasury, Judicial, and Persian Departments. At one end of the compound are barracks for the detachment of Cavalry, and Company of Native Infantry, which form the Resident's Escort, under the command of European Commissioned Officer. There are an old, but disused, burial ground, a Racquet Court and Croquet Ground within the Residency compound. The Hyderabad Telegraph Office is situated within the Residency walls and an Imperial Branch Post Office. The Branch of the Bank of Bengal is close by.

Surrounding the Residency are a number of populous Bazaars, embracing an area of about a square mile, over which the Resident exercises jurisdiction, both in Civil and Criminal matters.

Rules for Entering the City of Hyderabad.

Officers and other Europeans belonging to the District are prohibited from visiting the City of Hyderabad, or the Fort or Tombs of Golconda, without permission from the Resident, to be obtained by application through Staff Officers of Brigades. As it is usual to send intimation of all such visit beforehand to H. H. the Nizam's Government and obtain its assent for them, each application should as a rule, reach the First Assistant Resident four days before the proposed visit.

SECUNDERABAD.

Secunderabad (named after the Nizam Sikandur Jah) is the largest Military Station in India and is situated 6 miles north-east of Hyderabad City. It is the Winter Head-quarters of the IXth Secunderabad Division of the Army.

The Military Force stationed here consists of one Regiment of European and of Native Cavalry, one Battery of Royal Horse Artillery, three Batteries of Royal Artillery (Field and Garrison), two Regiments of British and three of Native Infantry, with a Company of Sappers and Miners. An Ordnance Establishment has charge of the Arsenal, and there is also a large Supply and Transport Staff. Cantonment boundaries extend as far as Bolarum, covering a total area of 19 square miles, including many interspersed villages. New double-storeyed barracks have been erected for the European soldiers, and the quarters for the Native troops are also comfortably built. The country for many miles around undulates into hammocks with a few out crops of underlying rock, crossed from east to west by green-stone dikes. Shady trees line the roads of the Cantonment, otherwise the face of the country is bare, with but little depth of soil in elevated parts. Cultivation is carried on in the dips and valleys, in several of which tanks have been constructed. Immediately to the south-west of the Cantonment is a large artificial reservoir or tank known as the Hussain Sagar, about 13 miles in circumference.

The Parade ground is of great extent, upon it a Force of seven or eight thousand troops can be manœuvred with ease. Close by is the Cemetery. A short distance from Secunderabad is the Cantonment of Trimulgherry, containing an entrenched camp. At Trimulgherry is the Military Prison, nicknamed "Windsor Castle." Adjoining Secunderabad Cantonment to the north is Bolarum Cantonment. Here are stationed a Regiment of Cavalry, and one of Infantry.

KADUR—(Mysore State).

A District forming the South-Western portion of the Nagar Division, lying between 13° 12' and 13° 58' Lat., and between 75° 8' and 76° 23' E Long. It is bounded on the West by the Western Ghats; on the North by Shimoga; on the East by Chitaldrug and on the South by Hassan. Area, 2,294 square miles. Languages spoken—Canarese and Hindustani.

Taluks.—Chickmagalur, Kadur, Koppa, Mudgere and Tarikere. (Sub-Taluk) Narasimharajapura.

The chief town of the District is Chikmagalur. The District contains the loftiest range on the Mysore tableland, the Baba Buden Hills, a horse-shoe shaped chain, forming a ridge 6,000 feet above sea-level, and containing a large number of Coffee and other estates. The Kalhatti Peak, 6,155 feet high, has on its summit a bungalow, which is a favourite hot weather resort. Tiger, Sambhar and other large game are found in these hills. Chikmagalur is 25 miles from the Kadur Station of the M. & S. M. Railway. The main street of the town is one and a half miles long, and there are many Muhammadan traders. At certain seasons high east winds render the town very unhealthy, but a wide belt of trees has been planted to try and mitigate this evil.

KISTNA.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by the Nizam's Dominions and the Godavari District; on the East by the Godavari River and the Bay of Bengal; on the South by the Bay of Bengal and the Kistna River; on the West by the Kistna River and Guntur District. Area, about 5,907 square miles. Population, 2,188,314.

Masulipatam one of the earliest settlements of the English on the Coramandal Coast, is a port situated 8 miles off from the sea connected with the main railway line at Beswada by branch It is a Municipal Town. It is equipped with pipe system. There is a Municipal Travellers' Bungalow besides other choultries managed by private bodies.

Your great grand father used to insist on Amrutanjan.

The town has an area of 20 square miles with a population of 48,940 being the 2nd largest in extent in the Madras Presidency and has a beautiful construction. It is the Head quarters of the rich Delta District of Kistna and all District Offices are located here. The Office of the Assistant Director of Survey has also been transferred to this place. The beauty of Masulipatam is the Robertson square which is situated in the heart of the town. In the centre of the square there is a good Sates reservoir with a Column in memory of the cyclone of 1864 which devastated the town It is noted for its printed Cotton goods. It has a first Grade College, a Hindu High School and a National College and they are all run by private bodies.

KODAIKANAL (PULNEY HILLS), MADURA DISTRICT.

The Pulney Hills are situated in the Madura District of the Madras Presidency. They are about 54 miles long from East to West and 15 miles broad. Including Aunjinad they cover 798 square miles. The plateau has an average elevation of about 7,000 feet. Like the Nilgiris and the Shevaroys, the Pulneys consist of a mass of the charnochite series, and the general scenery is characteristic of this class of rocks. The Pulneys areo connected towards the north-west with the Anamalais and towards the south with the Travancore hills.

The European settlement, KODAIKANAL, which was a very small place twenty-five years ago, now contains over 160 European houses scattered over an area of about 4 square miles, besides a number of Indian bungalows. There are native villages outside the drainage area of the Lake containing 854 huts with a population of about 4,000. This settlement in 1899 was made a Municipality to the great advantage of the station, as regards sanitation and roads The Lake, which forms the centre of the original settlement, is formed by an artificial bund erected by the late Sir Vere Levinge and covers an area of 66 acres. Its height above sea-level is 6,872 feet There is a flourising Boat Club with a number of good boats. The lake is well-stocked with baril (Barilius gutensis) which take a fly readily. The Club which is centrally situated, is an excellent one.

In former days considerable difficulty was experienced in getting supplies at Kodaikanal, but this is no longer the case. There are now shops with a flourishing Co-operative stores with retail stores at moderate prices; beef and mutton butchers are numerous, and excellent vegetables can be obtained all through the season. Almost all the houses in the station can now be reached by driving roads, though some of them are, naturally, rather steep. There are also driving roads to "Neutral Saddle," 7 miles away at the foot of Perumal (7,826 feet) where there are a few houses at an elevation of about 5,200 feet: to the "Pillar Rocks," one of the finest pieces of scenery in South India, and towards Pumbari, a hill village, 8 miles distant. Bridle paths permit of riding excursions in many other directions.

The climate of Kodaikanal is probably the best of any hill station in India. This at least was the opinion of the meteorological authorities when they fixed upon it as the site of the new solar Physics Observatory, which forms a conspicuous object on the top of Nadungipuram Hill. The only meteorological statistics available are those published in the Annual Reports of the Observatory for 1899-1900 and 1904-1905, and they are for a place nearly 800 feet above the lake. The highest shade temperature recorded was 74° in March, the lowest 40°·4 in November. In low lying places, especially near the lake, frost is not uncommon in the early mornings between November and February. The mean monthly temperatures varied only from 52°·4 in November to 59°·4 in May. One of the most striking features of the climate is the extreme dryness of the atmosphere during the early months of the year. Though the annual rainfall is about 60 inches, the subsoil is so porous that even during the monsoon, water never lies on the ground for any time, so muddy roads are practically unknown. During the south-west monsoon, winds are strong in exposed places, but the lake basin is so well sheltered that this causes little inconvenience.

The usual way of coming to Kodaikanal is by rail to Kodaikanal Road Station, S. I. R., where there is a Refreshment Room and a good Travellers' bungalow. Thence by Motor Service, bullock transit or by jutka to the Tope bungalow at the foot of the ghaut (32 miles), where meals can be obtained if previous notice has been sent, thence to the top—a distance of 12 miles—the journey may be made on ponies or in chairs or doolies. The ghat road to Kodaikanal was opened to the public from the beginning of 1915. It is 30 miles long and starts from the road to Periyakulam near Gangavarpatti village, 16 miles from the Railway Station. Cars, Motor Cars and Cycles are using the road. It is safer for visitors to use the latter vehicles as carts do not traverse the fever zone quickly. The Pankajam Motor Service, The London Motor Service, The General Motor Service, Parvathi Motor Service, provide cars and buses at reasonable rates and they have their Agents here. Single seats can also be booked when available. Horses and luggage may be sent up by motor domis provided by this company. There are some private boarding houses in the station, but as these are generally well filled during the season, no visitor should risk coming up without making arrangements beforehand. There is also a Hotel which is conducted by F A Gregory. Stores and luggage may be sent from Kodaikanal Road Station by common carts, always waiting, at reasonable rates, and are carried up the Hills at a charge of 12 annas for 50 lbs. The wage of each bearer carrying a chair or dhooly is Re. 1, and the hire for riding ponies is two rupees to the 6th mile stone, Rs. 3-0 to Shembaganur and one rupee to Kodaikanal, or Neutral Saddle whether one or two ponies are supplied for the journey.

KOLAR DISTRICT—Mysore State.

KOLAR.—A town and District Head-quarters in the Mysore State, not to be confounded with the Kolar Gold Fields (q. v.); it is 11 miles by good road from the Bowringpet Junction of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway and connected by rail.

The town is one of great antiquity; it contains a very old temple and other interesting remains. It was the burial place of Futtah Ali, Hyder Ali's father; and his Makbara, a fine old building, is still maintained by State endowment. Hyder Ali frequently visited Kolar as a pleasure resort. North-west of the town are the Kolar Sathasringa Parvatha, the highest peak of which is over 4,000 ft. above sea level; the sides of the hills are mostly bare and rocky, but the top is a fine plateau, with many villages and much cultivation. There is one Cigarette factory at Bowringpet. There is a Normal and Industrial Institute attached to the American Mission.

It forms the eastern portion of the Nundidroog Division, lying between 12° 6′ and 13° 36′ N. Lat. and between 78° 5′ and 78° 35′ E. Long. It is bounded on the North and North-East by Bellary and Cuddapah; on the South-East and South by North Arcot and Salem; on the West by the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. Area, 3,179 square miles. Languages spoken:—Telugu, Hindustani, Canarese and Tamil.

KOLAR GOLD FIELDS.

These gold fields occupy a small tract of country about sixty miles from Bangalore, in the east of the Mysore State, and east of a low ridge of hills; they stretch north and south for about 40 miles, the width varying from 1½ to 4 miles. About 40 square miles are held by the several Companies. The Gold Fields Railway connects the field with the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway by the junction at Bowringpet. About 20,000 persons are now employed on the mines, many being covenanted European miners.

The gold bearing strata has a tendency to run towards the Dharwar Gold Fields, which are probably part of the same geological formation. Power for working the mines is derived from the Cauvery Electric Power Works at Sivasamudram, whence 4,000—H. P. of electrical energy is regularly received, and arrangements are now being made to increase this to 6,000 H. P., which will probably enable the mines to do without steam power altogether. The field is almost destitute of vegetation, and the scenery is dotted and scarred over with piles of crushed and spent quartz and cyanide sand; in appearance it is a typical gold mining settlement.

The mining camps are in the Kolar District, the Head-quarters of which is Champion Reef, 9 miles from Bowringpet.

MALABAR.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by South Canara, Coorg; on the South by Cochin and Travancore; on the East by Coorg, Mysore, the Nilgiris and Coimbatore; and on the West by the sea. Area, 5,792 square miles. Population, 3,098,871 Language spoken :—Malayalam.

Calicut, the Head-quarters of the District, a place of considerable trade and one of the largest ports in the Presidency It is a Municipal Town. Palghat, a Municipality, place of considerable trade. Cannanore is a Military Station. Cochin is another important seaport which will soon have an excellent harbour

Tellicherry is one of the oldest of the East India Company's Settlements being the capital of North Malabar. Dt. Court, Sub-Court, Sub-Collector's Office and similar public offices are situated in this town. From a commercial point of view the town stands second to none in North Malabar and many European firms existing afford labour to poor people in the town and its suburbs A second grade Government College originated from the Ziba School founded and maintained by the late Mr Brennen's Endowment is the chief educational institution in the town The town will grow further in importance if it is connected with up countries by railway. Want of a pier was greatly felt, which has been recently put up.

MYSORE DISTRICT—(MYSORE STATE).

A District in the South of the State situated between 11°-36′ and 13°-35′ and 75°-76′ and 77°-24′ E. Long. It is bounded on the North by Hassan and Tumkur Districts; East by Bangalore District and the Madras District of Coimbatore; South by the Nilgiri and Malabar Collectorates and West by Coorg. Languages spoken.—Canarese, Hindustani, Tamil, Marathi, English and Telugu, Canarese being the language of the country—Telugu ranking next among the Vernaculars.

Head-quarters: MYSORE TOWN.

The Head-quarters of the State Departments are at Bangalore. Mysore, the titular Capital of the Native State of the same name, is situated on the north-western side of the Chamundi Hills. It is 86 miles by rail from Bangalore. The town has been much improved of late years, and the newer portion of it (called after the late Maharaja), Chamarajpoora, and other extensions have more than doubled its area in the past few years.

The Public Offices are to the west of the town in the Gordon Park Near these are the Maharani's College, the Law Corts, the Maharajah's College and Roman Catholic Church. The fine Curzon Park was opened in 1902, just before the instalation of the Maharajah. It is beautifully laid out with shady walks and nooks, parterres and fountains. It extends along the northern and western sides of the old Fort. Near the Park enclosure are the Club, Town and Masonic Halls, Post and Telegraph offices, etc. There is a Hotel, "the Gordon," and an Anglican Church, "St. Bartholomew's". The fine new Palace of the Maharajah is within the Fort and well worthy of a visit. The building is Hindu in design, and, with the exception of some fine pictures, shows little of the influence of European art. The front contains a very fine Durbar Hall. The summer palace is east of the Fort. Near by are the Maharajah's stables and a good Zoological Garden, in which is a well planned "maze." The Race Course, one of the best in Southern India, is near the foot of the hill, and in its centre is the Polo ground. European residents mostly live to the east of the town. The old Government House is now a guest house for European visitors. Near it is the house which was, for some years, occupied by the first Duke of Wellington, then Colonel Wellesley.

In the easternmost portion of the city, and on the motor road to the top of the Chamundi Hills is the artistically laid out Narasimharaja boulevards The road from here to the south leads to the beautifully laid out Hardinge circle with greens, and good lights in the evening decorating it.

MYSORE STATE (THE).

The capital of the Province and the residence of H. H. the Maharaja is situated in 2° 18' N. Lat, and 76° 42' E. Long at the north-western base of the Chamundi Hills. It includes three suburbs, and embraces an area of about 3 square miles. The town is built in a valley formed by two ridges running north and south. There is also a slight ascent on the northern side, so that the town is almost in a basin. The houses of the European residents are to the east of the town. The front portion of the Residency was built by Colonel Wilks at the beginning of the present century, and is in the Doric Order of Architecture The back was added a few years later by Sir John Malcolm, and contains a fine Banquetting Hall A new suburb has sprung up to the west at the village of Kookerhulli. A grand new Palace and Durbar Hall and several houses have been recently built, roads nicely laid out, and the whole place made bright and cheerful. The Zoological Gardens are especially well kept.

Fauna.—The wealth of the animal kingdom in the Mysore State can be most conveniently illustrated by naming the animals to be met with in each of the districts of the country. In the Bangalore District there are the tiger, deer, cheetah or panther, wild hog, porcupine, bear, jackal, buffalo and wild cat The larger game is mostly confined to the Magadi, Kankanhalli and Closepet taluks. Among birds are the jungle fowl, pea-fowl and spur-fowl, the bustard, florican. partridge, quail, rock-pigeon, snipe, teal and wild duck. Several species of fresh-water fish are obtained in the larger tanks In the Kolar District the chief wild animals are a few bears, met with in the Miekalnaikanpalya and Budikoti jungles; cheetahs and wild boar in the Nundydroog, Mudimadagu, Sannakal and Dokkal-konda hill ranges; hyænas, jackals, antelope, porcupines and hares in unfrequented parts; and the mongoose and smaller animals in the hedges around villages The birds are similar to those of the Bangalore District. The town of Kolar and the villages adjacent to it are noted for turkeys, which are reared in large numbers for export to Bangalore, Bellary, and other places. In the Tumkur District the tiger, panther, bear and wild hog are to be met with in the reserved forest tracts around Devarayandroog; while deer and cheetahs are sometimes to be seen in the jungly parts of the Sira taluk Birds of prey are said to be numerous in this district. In the Chittaldroog District the tiger, panther, bear, hyæna and wild hog infest most of the hilly and wild tracts; and deer are to be found chiefly in Hiriyar, Chittaldroog and Pavagada All kinds of wild owl are very numerous in the secluded tanks in the south, and pelicans may be seen about Mattod Good herds of oxen and sheep are found grazing in the east, north and north-western parts of this district. The Mysore District lays claim to the possession of the chief elephant tracts, which are to be found in the jungles in the south, east and west; but their destruction is prohibited by the Government. This district is famous for its cattle, especially the breeds known as the Amrat Mahal the Halikar and the Madesvarabetta or Madhugiri, and good sheep can be obtained from the Nagamangala, Maddur and Mandya taluks. In the Hassan District the forests of the Mulnad and the rocky hills, in the Hassan, Akalgud and Harnhalli taluks give shelter to numerous wild beasts: among which tigers, cheetahs, bears, elk spotted deer, jungle sheep and wild pigs are the most common; black cheetahs are occasionally shot in Manjarabad, and herds of elephants and bison visit the hilly tract on the verge of the Ghauts. In the Shimoga District bison and elephants are common in the Sagar taluk, while tigers, panthers and bears are found principally in the west and in Shikarpur Wild boar abound in Chennagiri, Nyagai and other parts: sambar chittul and jungle sheep are frequent in the wooded tracts. Wild geese, ducks and teal frequent the tanks in Chennagiri and Shimoga while pea-fowl and jungle fowl are to be had in the woods.

Administrative capital of the State is BANGALORE (q. v.).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.—The Director of Agriculture is the head of the Agricultural Civil Veterinary, Sericultural & Amrit Mahal Departments in Mysore with his office situated to the east of the Central College on the Sheshadri Road. Attached to the office buildings and under the control of the Director are the Agricultural Chemical Laboratory, the Mycological Laboratory, the Entomological Laboratory and the Insectary. An Experimental Farm connected with the Department is situated at Hebbal, five miles from Bangalore. Three other Experimental Farms have been started, one in Nagenhalli, four miles from Mysore, one in Babbur, three miles from Hiriyur in Chittaldrug District and one in Marthur, ten miles from Sagar in Shimoga District. The Agricultural School, also under the Director of Agriculture, has class rooms with laboratory equipment on the Hebbal Farm for Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Mycology and Entomology and for theoratical and practical work in Agriculture, Carpentry, Blacksmithy and Fitting. A Veterinary Hospital for treatment of sick animals on the Farm and in the neighbourhood has recently been opened. The Veterinary Assistant in-charge gives instruction to the students of the School in Veterinary Science, both theoretical and practical.

A Students' Hostel attached to the School is located on the farm where quarters for living have also been provided. An Implement Depot is attached to the Department in which machines and implements specially adapted to the agricultural requirements of the State are stocked and sold to the ryots. As far as possible local manufacturers are encouraged to stock approved implements made by them in this Depot. When definite results in regard to experiments in the various branches of the Department are achieved, such results are published in the form of bulletins which are supplied to agriculturists in the State who apply for them, free of cost A District staff of three Agricultural Inspectors for each District have been appointed in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the State to work under the Deputy and Assistant Directors, respectively A Dairy and Breeding Station has been attached to the Agricultural School at the Experimental Farm, Hebbal, for giving the students practical lessons in Dairing, etc.

NELLORE.

Description.—A district on the Eastern or Coromandel Coast, lying between 30° 25' and 15° 55' N. lat., and between 79° 9' and 80° 14' E. Long. On the east it is washed by the Bay of Bengal, its western boundary is formed by the Eastern Ghâts, which separate it from the districts of Kurnool and Cuddapah ; north it is bordered by Guntur District ; south by North Arcot and Chingleput. Estimated total area, 7,973 square miles; total population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,385,553.

Physical Geography.—This District occupies a tract of low land stretching from the base of the Eastern Ghâts to the sea Its general aspect is forbidding. The coast line is uniformly a fringe of blown sand, through which the waves occasionally break and spread a salt sterility over the fields. Farther inland, the country begins to rise. But the soil is not naturally fertile, nor are means of irrigation readily at hand except in Nellore taluk. Scarcely half of the total area is cultivated The rest is either a rocky waste or covered with dense scrub jungle. The finest trees are to be found in the neighbourhood of the village sites Along the western frontier rises a barren range of mountains, which throws out numerous spurs into the plain. A remarkable natural feature is the island of Sriharikota, a low ridge of sand which divides the Lake of Pulicat from the main sea. Inhabited chiefly by scattered families of the wild tribe of Yanadies, most of it has never been brought under cultivation ; but Madras is supplied with fuel from this otherwise unprofitable waste. The chief rivers of Nellore are the Pennar and the Swarnamukhi, which rise in the table-land above the Ghâts and flow east to the sea. The numerous minor streams are little more than mountain torrents. The Pennar runs through the district for a total course of about 70 miles, passing by the town of Nellore. For nine months of the year its bed, which is rocky among the hills but sandy lower down, is almost dry, with deep pools hree and there, in which fish collect. The season of flood (full or partial) lasts for about 60 days. When the stream is at its highest, the volume of water is 500 yards wide and 30 feet deep, filling the bed from bank to bank The chief irrigation works on the Pennar are the anicut at Neleore town, from which numerous channels are led off on the south bank, and an anicut made at Sangam, a place 18 miles west of Nellore, and which irrigates land north of the river. The floods of the Swarnamukhi also supply a series of irrigation channels. The bordering range of the Eastern Ghâts rises in its highest peak Penchalakonda, to an elevation of about 3,600 feet above sea level. Detached from this range is th isolated hill or droog of Udayagiri (3,079 feet), which was formerly an important rock fortress. Throughout the district generally, the underlying rocks belong to the metamorphic series, which occasionally crops up in the form of gneiss, schist, and quartz, and is intersected by veins of quartz and volcanic rocks. The Eastern Ghâts, on the other hand, are capped by a series of sedimentary formation, chiefly altered sandstone and slate known as the "Cuddapah Group." Organic remains of fern-like plants have been found in several places. A band of laterite, varying greatly in width, extends almost continuously along the coast, and is largely quarried for building materials. Copper was discovered in the north-eastern corner of Udayagiri taluk in 1801. The ore was found on assay to yield a large percentage of metal, and European capital was attracted to the spot. But the enterprise has repeatedly proved unsuccessful, and no fresh attempt has been made since 1840. Saltpetre is made in a few villages, by refining down the nitrous earth to be found on the surface. Mica is worked in the south of the district. Wild animals are comparatively rare. Tigers are almost unknown, except when a stray one wanders across the mountains from Cuddapah. Leopards, bears, sambhur, deer, and occasionally bison, are still found among the western hills. Antelope, spotted deer and wild hog are generally distributed, while the small game comprise snipe, duck, bustard and florican.

NILGIRIS (THE).

Geographical position.—The Nilgiri District—as it existed prior to the annexation on the 31st March 1877, of the tracts known as the Nambalakód, Cheramkód and Munnanád Amshoms, before then part of the Wynad Taluk of Malabar—lies between latitude 11° 8' and 11° 37' north, and longitude 76° 27' and 77° 4' east. Within these limits rise the Nilgiri Hills, a vast mountain block, comprising two more or less distinct hill ranges, usually known as the Nilgiris Proper and the Kúndas. Apart from the Kúnda and Nídumalé ranges, the surface of the Nilgiris is divided into an upper and lower plateau. The lower forming an irregular shelf rests upon the north-eastern and southern slopes of the Doddabetta, or great central range, and its offshoots, including the north-east angle of the plateau, sometimes, though without sufficient reason, called the Kótagiri range. The higher plateau, known amongst the aborigines as the "Mél," or upland and comprises the tract lying between the western slopes of Doddabetta and the Nídumalé and Kúnda ranges. The average elevation of this higher plateau above the lower may be roughly stated at from 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

Waterfalls are numerous and picturesque, though not of great depth or volume. The highest is Kólakambe, north of the hill of that name, having an unbroken fall of about 400 feet. Second to this is St. Catherine's Fall (250 feet) in a stream south of Kótagiri. Then follows the lower Fall of Paikara (200 feet) and after it the upper (180 feet). Of nearly the same height is the Kalhatti Fall (170 feet) on the Segúr Pass.

Lakes —There are no natural lakes in the plateau, but art has attempted to supply in Ootacamund the defects of nature, for there are some artificial lakes or reservoirs, formed by banking up streams at narrow parts of the valleys. The most important is the Ootacamund lake, a marked feature in the station, and one which adds greatly to its beauty. Its form is serpentine, the bends being caused by the projecting spurs of the hills on either side Its length is about two miles and a half, breadth from three to four hundred yards. A road follows the windings of its banks throughout and forms the principal drive of the station, being nearly five miles long.

Scenery.—The interior of the plateau consists chiefly of grassy undulating hills divided by narrow valleys, which invariably contain a stream or a swamp. In the hollows of the hill-sides nestle small beautiful woods, locally known as shólas It is seldom that so much variety of beauty is found in so small a compass. Let a visitor take a short ride in almost any direction from almost any part of the plateau, and passing along shady English-looking lanes, sheltered by thickets of blackberry and wild rose; across bare breezy downs, sometimes dotted with twisted crimson flowering rhododendron and intersected by swampy valleys, where buffaloes wade and wallow, through dense woods carpeted with rare ferns and gorgeous in spring-tints, beside which the colouring of an English autumn is faint and dull, by native villages, with their patches of cultivation and their magnificent single trees, he will find himself on some ridge or promontory, looking straight down from 4,000 to 6,000 feet, on to a scene that changes like the figures in a kaleidoscope. In the morning a sea of clouds lies at his feet and gradually rises round him In the afternoon this clears away, and reveals perhaps a vast crimson plain, veined by dark lines of wood, dotted with isolated hummucks like giant ant-hills and terminating in faint blue lines of mountains, the furthest of which seems to hang half-way up the sky; perhaps on a tumbled mass of hills and valleys, a perfect dissolving view, for the eye has hardly traced the outline of some rocky ridge, glowing red in the sun-light, before a blue-cloud shadow blots it out, and a fresh series of crests and ravines start into sight beyond. Broken peaks, hung with wood frame the picture, and on all sides lies tropical sunlight, intensified by the keen thin mountain air The hills are full of peaks with paths leading up to the top, made for the convenience of visitors. The scenery from these tops is simply delightful and the air refreshing and invigorating. The most important of these is the Mukurti Peak, situated about 17¼ miles west of Ootacamund.

The climate or rather climates, of the Nilgiri Hills—for that of each hill and valley seems to vary according to its exposure to the monsoons, its elevation, or other local causes—may be generally described as for the greater part of the year dry, bracing and exhilarating, and more equable than those of Europe; the maximum range of the thermometer being only from 8 to 9 degrees at Ootacamund, and from 12 to 15 degrees at Wellington throughout the year, in the middle of the day, as against 28 degrees in London. December and January are frosty months, the wind is keen and the sky beautifully blue. This is the unhealthy season. Water cakes into thin layer ice in the winter. South-west monsoon,—During the south-west monsoon, which usually prevails until the end of September, much rain falls, and the air is generally saturated with moisture. The hills are quickly covered with luxuriant grasses and the forest trees put forth their fresh leaves. During August and September breaks, as they are called, occur. The mists clear off, and the sun shines forth for several days successively. The scenery, usually beautiful, is now surpassingly so, the undulating ground of the whole plateau being clothed with verdure of peculiar richness. This is usually considered to be the healthiest time of the year, and Europeans who have resided for any length of time upon the Hills, and judge the climate by experience, invariably prefer the rainy season to any other. North-east monsoon.—This begins about the middle of October and generally opens with vivid flashes of lightning and rattling peals of thunder, accompanied with heavy rain. There are breaks now and again, but rain is heavy. The wind occasionally becomes frosty and heavy fogs occur, especially in November.

Cases of illness which derive most benefit from a change to the Hill climate.—On the Nilgiri table-land we have a climate essentially temperate, and one which experience tells us is capable of conferring the greatest benefit in suitable cases. The cool refreshing breezes, together with the lovely mountain scenery, and relaxation from work, combine to effect an improvement in the health of those who have been exposed for any length of time to the enervating influences of the plains. For the following classes the climate will be found unquestionably most suitable and invigorating. Young people of weakly constitution, who have broken down through overwork in a tropical climate, or who from having come out to India before their constitution may be said to have been properly formed, and in consequence have been reduced to a state of general debility after their arrival in the country. Older persons who, by reason of a prolonged residence on the plains without change, or who, after suffering from some slight illness, have been troubled with dyspepsia, nervous debility, mental depression, or loss of appetite, and who in consequence feel an inability to perform their accustomed duties. These are the cases which derive the most permanent benefit from a residence on the Hills. It is presumed that in the above cases there is freedom from all structural disease. Convalescence from many of the more trivial diseases to which Europeans are subject on the plains is generally hastened by a residence on these Hills, attention being paid to the selection of a station for such cases in due accordance with the age and state of the patient and the season of the year. The Hills are the place for consumptives, or those suffering from asthma, fevers, chronic diarrhœa, dysentery and liver.

The boundaries of the District are: North, Mysore; South, Malabar and Coimbatore; East, Coimbatore; West, Malabar. Area, 1,009 square miles. Population, 118,618. Languages are Toda, Kota and Badaga spoken by the indigenous tribes, and Canarese, Tamil and Malayalam are in common use.

GOVERNMENT BOTANICAL GARDENS AND PARKS, NILGIRIS.

Curator.—F. H. Butcher. Asst. Curator.—M. Arokiasawmy.

The following are the Gardens and Parks on the Nilgiris:—

1. Government Botanical Gardens. Ooty.
2. Government Parks. ... ,,
3. St. Thomas' Cemetery. ,,
4. Sim's Park. ... Coonoor.
5. Pomological Station, Sim's Park ,,
6. Burliar Experimental Gardens } Coonoor
7. Kullar ,, ,, } Ghat.

The Ootacamund Botanical Garden was opened during the Governorship of the Marquis of Tweeddale in 1847, and covers an area of about 51 acres. The grounds are beautifully laid out and planted with a great variety of exotic timber and ornamental trees, shrubs and herbaceous plants. There is a fine terrace laid out with flower beds in the Italian fashion, two conservatories which are open to the public, and a range of propagating houses.

St. Thomas' Cemetery is under the superintendence of the Curator.

Sim's Park, Coonoor, was opened in 1874, as a pleasure ground for the inhabitants of, and visitors to, Coonoor and Wellington. It is prettily situated in a valley on the north side of Coonoor at an elevation of 5,800—5,900 feet and is about 30 acres in extent.

Pomological Station.—This station which covers an area of about 9 acres is attached to Sim's Park and is situated along the water channel Path near the entrance to the Pasteur Institute. It was established in 1920, its object being to promote fruit growing, to supply fruit trees and seeds to the public and to experiment with various fruit trees and plants.

The Burliar Experimental Garden is near the Burliar toll bar on the Coonoor ghât, at an elevation of 2,300 to 2,500 feet, and was purchased in 1871 for Rs 2,000. Experience has proved that the site, which commands a plentiful supply of water all the year round for irrigation purposes, is well-adapted for the growth of trees and plants peculiar to tropical America, the West Indies, tropical Africa, the Straits and the Eastern Archipelago The Para Central American, Ceara, and Funtumia rubber trees, the Mangosteen, Nutmeg, Cinnamon, Clove Allspice, Cocoa, Coca, Mahogany, Camphor, Coffee trees of different species, Oranges, Breadfruit, Coconut, Custard Apple, Litchi, Langsat, Avocado Pear, Durian and Plantains — including the Manilla Hemp plant—are all represented and thriving well in the garden, which covers about 8 acres.

Kallar, a block of about 10 acres of land at 1,300 to 1,400 feet elevation, handed over by the Forest Department in 1900, lies on the old ghat road about a mile from Kallar Railway Station. Rubber, fibre producing plants, teak, mahogany and tropical fruit trees are being experimented with there and also the valuable medicinal herb, Caphaelis Ipecacuanha.

OOTACAMUND.

OOTACAMUND, the chief town of the Nilgiri district, the principal sanitarium of India, the summer head-quarters of the Madras Government, occupies the western slope of the Dodabetta mountain range. The town proper lies within the basin formed by two spurs of the Dodabetta mountain, the highest point of the southern being Elk Hill, and that of the northern the Club Hill. Owing to its peculiar features, Ootacamund is much exposed to the westerly winds, but is well protected upon the north and east. The bottom of the Ootacamund basin has been converted into an artificial lake some two miles in length and one-third of a mile in width, by throwing a dam across the main stream at a narrow pass where it issues from the central valley. The western lake is sinuous in form. Upon the hills which surround it, more or less concealed by woods of eucalyptus, acacia, cypress and pine, stand some of the best private residences in the town. On a foreland of its southern bank stands the Church of St. Thomas, a Gothic building; and opposite to this on the north bank, Ootacamund Railway Station. Though at a greater distance from the lake, the Roman Catholic Church is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin. The upper lake, an oval piece of water, much contaminated by the drainage of the native town or bazaar which lies on its northern bank, has been reclaimed lately and is now utilized as a Gymkhana ground and Race Course. Round the margin of the whole lake runs a wide carriage-drive. The marsh at the head, or eastern extremity of the lake has been reclaimed, levelled, and forms a park known as the Hobart Park, still used for purposes of public recreation. The area including the land lying on the northern and southern margins of the lake as far as the Willow Bund, is about thirty acres opposite to this, at the eastern extremity of the native bazaar, stands the Hobart School for native girls. To the east is the public market. On the slope of the hill behind the market are the Police lines and station; and above these ranges of buildings St. Bartholomew's Hospital, behind which on the top of the ridge, are the jail buildings now used by the Taluk and Sub-Registrar's Offices, as office and by the Indian Defence Force for their Armoury and Recreation room. At a short distance to the east, on the same spur, is the Public Library, and opposite to it the Post Office; a little further on are the public offices of the district and lower down the Breeks' Memorial School. Nearer to the hill stands the Church of St. Stephen, the old station church; and opposite its gates the church and school of the Church Missionary Society's Indian Christians. The sides of the hill to the east and west of St. Stephen's are thickly studded with houses and cottages, including westward the Club House and the principal hotels, and eastward the Assembly Rooms. Looking to the east from St. Stephen's, but at a much lower elevation, on the western extremity of a minor spur of Dodabetta, stands "Stonehouse," which contains the Council Chamber and the offices of the Madras Secretariat. In the hollows and on the spurs of Dodabetta to the north and south of "Stonehouse" are many residences. The lands on these slopes are generally very fertile and well watered, and for this reason a considerable and yearly extending area is cultivated as garden land. In a steep ravine, about half a mile to the north of "Stonehouse," are the Public Gardens and the Todah "mund," from which Ootacamund takes its name Above the Public Gardens, stretching across the Dodabetta saddle, is the Government Cinchona plantation. On the northern shoulder of the ravine, adjoining the Public Gardens, lies the hill residence of the Governor, backed by a fine wood of eucalyptus on the side of the Snowdon mountain From the foot of "Stonehouse" towards the south runs the highway to Coonoor, disappearing in the deep cutting which separates Elk Hill from the Dodabetta range This is a simple description of the main valley, but the limits of the station lie for beyond it and include two other important valleys; to the south and parallel with it, Lovedale, with its picturesque lake, above which stand the extensive storeyed buildings of the Lawrence Memorial School (founded 1858); to the north the alley and Marlimund which opens out towards the head of the Seegoor Pass. Between the Ootacamund and the Marlimund valleys is a hollow, across the outlet of which a dam has been thrown forming the Marlimund reservoir from which, through cast iron pipes, nearly three miles in length, the northern portion of Ootacamund is supplied with water. The house occupied by Europeans in the station have often five or six acres of land attached and many have from twenty to seventy acres. In the chief native-bazaar on the border of the lake, some eight thousand persons are congregated; and perhaps half of the number again in Kandal. a bazaar in a small valley to the west of the station, But a large number of Indians have their homes in scattered hamlets, chiefly in the eastern portions of the station. The inhabitants of these hamlets are chiefly Canarese, with a sprinkling of Tamils. There is no Badaga village within municipal limits, and only three or four Toda munds or villages.

Lovedale.

LOVEDALE is three miles from Ootacamund on the summit and centre of the Nilgiri Hills. It is now in the Ootacamund Municipal area. It lies between the 11th and 12th degrees of North Latitude and the 76th and 77th degrees of East Longitude, on the confines of Coimbatore and Malabar, at elevation of 7,330 feet above the main level of the sea, being 1,312 feet below Dodabetta and 103 feet above the Lake at Ootacamund, and 1,470 feet above the Barracks at Wellington, The mean annual temperature at lovedale is 58°; the mean maximum is 68°; the mean minimum is 48°, the mean annual range 16°. On or near the ground, however, water often freezes during the winter months. Chinna-Dodabetta is in Lovedale and at its foot there is the Asylum Reservoir. The Lawrence Memorial School buildings and ground cover an area of 730·76 acres. Close by eastwards is Keti Valley occupied by Badagas.

KOTAGIRI—Nilgiri District.

Kotagiri, or Koteagherry as it was formerly called, is 18 miles from the foot of the Nilgiris and 6,500 feet above the level of the sea It is situated in North latitude 11° 19'. The first English settlers went to Kotagiri. which is still considered as possessing a better climate for invalids than Ootacamund or Coonoor. It is chiefly occupied by planters, and is so called from the Kotars who have a village in it. The Kotars are a dirty lot. They live on carrion, and their persons and huts are squalid and filthy. They are mostly blacksmiths by profession. Kotagiri produces tea, coffee, and oranges of superior kind in abundance. Potatoes and pears form no inconsiderable supply during July, August and September. The Roman Catholic Mission has established churches and schools here and is doing quiet but useful work.

A Hill Station and division of the Coonoor Taluk. Lat. 11° 34′. Long. 76° 54′. Distance, 18 miles E. of Ootacamund, 13 miles N.-E. of Coonoor, and 21 miles N. of Mettupalaiyam. Elevation 6,000 feet Rainfall average 70 inches (chief monsoon N.-E.). Languages spoken.—Tamil, Badaga, Kotah, Toda and Irrula.

COONOOR.

Coonoor is the alternative sanitarium with Ootacamund on the Nilgiris, and being in a more sheltered position is sometimes preferred. Its position is lat. 11° 20′ N., and long. 76° 50′ E., and its distance 363 miles from Madras, and 12 from Ootacamund. The scenery of Coonoor differs very greatly from that of Ootacamund; its vegetation is semi-tropical, the contour of the hills is bold, and the colouring of the scenery bright and warm. On the other hand, the vegetation of Ootacamund is rather that of the Temperate Zones; its hill lines are unbroken and undulating, and the colouring of the landscape cold and grey. The climate of Coonoor also differs as widely as its scenery, being warm, moist and relaxing, whilst that of Ootacamund is cool, dry and invigorating. Each supplies the need. The mean annual temperature in the shade at Coonoor is 62° F. In the warmer months the thermometer fluctuates between 55° and 75° F.; in the colder months 38° and 68° F. The average annual rainfall is 76 inches. The rate of mortality is remarkably low. The height of All Saints' Church above the sea-level is 5,954 feet. that of the Coonoor bridge about 5,500 feet. Most of the houses occupied by Europeans are between 5,700 and 6,000 feet above sea-level. Coonoor peak, however, is 6,893 feet above sea level, or only 300 feet below the level of the Ootacamund lake. Coonoor lies at the head of the ravine and pass which bears its name.

The native town spreads over the lower slopes of the spurs of two hills, which, terminate in a wedge-like promontory where the united waters of three streams break over the edge of the ghaut and are precipitated down the gorge under the name of the Coonoor river, finally joining the Kartairy river. The three streams are crossed by three bridges. On an eminence on the western spur stands the Protestant Mission Chapel, and on the eastern the Roman Catholic Church; below the latter is the market. The Road to Upper Coonoor passes up the ridge and thence round the head of the valley, and along the wooded ridge which encloses it on the east and south. On this ridge stands the Coonoor Church, dedicated to All Saints, with a lofty square tower. The Church is surrounded by a grave-yard planted with exotic trees and flowers. To the east of this ridge is a ravine separating it from Tiger

Hill, round which winds Lord Hobart's road, passing into the road to Lamb's Rock Lady Canning's Seat, and the Dolphin's Nose, some five miles eastward of Coonoor above the Kottagherrygorge. Below this road, stretching away to the east as far as the eye can see, are the Coimbatore and the Salem plains, the ancient Conga country; northwards the Biligherryrungam hills and the ranges which mark the line of the Balaghat country; whilst south and westwards is the Coonoor pass, walled in on the south by the "Hooliculdrug," which is backed by the Lamton's Peak range south of the Bhawany river and by the distant Anamullay mountains.

Behind the hill on which the Church stands is another valley one of the ravines on the western side of the Coonoor peak, along which runs the road to Kotagherry. This valley has been formed into a garden named Sim's Park, after Mr. J. D. Sim, a late Member of the Madras Council. It is an off shoot of the deep ravine which divides Coonoor from Wellington, and the upper portion of which has been converted into a race-course, unrivalled by any in India for the picturesqueness and beauty of its position. The drainage of this valley forms the middle stream of Coonoor, which meets the other streams at the old Coonoor bridge. This bridge is the central point of the Coonoor road system. Here the old and new ghat roads meet, and from it, along the right bank of the western stream as far as the Wellington bazaar, runs the main road to Ootacamund. Above this road to the left is the Tahsildar's Office, Sub-Magistrate's Court, the Police Station and Police lines. The old court buildings have recently been dismantled and rebuilt on a more extensive plan, and a few private residences; and below it the Railway Station. The Nilgiri Railway was opened in 1899 from Mettupalaiyam to Coonoor, the line being on the rack-rail system from the foot of the hills. This railway has been purchased by Government. A continuation of the line from Coonoor to Ootacamund was completed and the train service began in 1908. A piped water supply scheme for the town of Coonoor was completed in April 1905. A Pasteur Institute for the Madras Presidency has been built in Coonoor near Sim's Park. Three miles up the old Ootacamund road is situated the Government Cordite Factory worked by electric power obtained from the Kartairy Falls.

WELLINGTON.

The station of Wellington, which is the Convalescent Depôt for the British troops in the Madras Presidency, is in the Merkanad Division of the Nilgiri District, and lies in latitude 11° 5' north and longitude 77° 5' east, with a native population of 5,544. It is 6,100 feet above the level of the sea, situated on a spur running to the south-east from the Dodabetta or middle range of mountains, is well sheltered, only partially exposed to the monsoons, and well adapted for sanitarium. It is bounded on the north by the Dodabetta mountain, which is 8,760 feet above sea-level, and is sheltered by it partially from the south-west monsoon; on the south by Coonoor, two miles distant, from which it is separated by a deep ravine; on the east by Kotagiri, 18 miles distant; and on the west by a spur of the Dodabetta range stretching towards Kâtéri. There is a Convalescent Depôt which is now called the Furlough Recreation Camp, and a convalescent enteric depot at the Hut Barracks besides Rifle Range Camp and Bazaar Hill Camp. The Madras District Head-Quarter offices are located in the main Barrack from 1st December 1920.

Climate and its influence on health —The climate at Wellington, although only 11 degrees from the equator, is most salubrious, temperate, and invigorating. The thermometer seldom rises in the shade above 75 degrees, and the days throughout the cold months are clear and bracing. The mornings are always refreshing, and, if the character and time of the setting in of the south-west monsoon is regular, the months of the middle part of the year are pleasant and healthy.

The soil in and about Wellington is of a rich red ferruginous clay or maral, resting on a granitic base with sienite in many places, and here and there felspar, mica, and veins of quartz. Flint and amethyst appear to be embedded in the granite, sienite or gneiss, in the form of crystallized silica.

The road up the ghât runs from east to west On the first portion of the ascent the bamboo, cocoanut and nut grow in abundance, sheltering the road On going higher, one observes the indigenous forest trees, among which are conspicuous, the teak, of an inferior quality, the blackwood, which is useful for furniture, and takes a handsome polish, the sal, wild jack and vengay. Vengay is a superior timber considered by some equal to teak, and from it the bridges throughout the ghât are made. Lastly, the red and white cedars, the woods of which are suitable for building or making furniture These trees are conspicuous for their great girth. About two-thirds up the ghât it is a pleasing relief to meet a resting-place, known as the 'Half-way House,' midway between Coonoor and Mettupalaiyam, or 5 miles from the former station. Here coffee is provided for troops coming up. It is well shaded, and a perennial spring of clear water flows close by. The ascent from Mettupalaiyam to Coonoor is about 4,500 feet. Midway between Ootacamund and Coonoor, i.e., at the 7th mile stone, Aruvenkad, stands the Cordite Factory, the surroundings of which up to Yellanballi are under the sanitary charge of the Wellington Cantonment Authority.

PONDICHERRY—Madras Presidency

A City, Seaport, and Capital of the French Settlements in India, on the Coromandel Coast, within the South Arcot District, lying in Lat. 11° 5' 57", Long. 79° 52' 53". Languages spoken—French and Tamil.

PONDICHERRY, the Capital of the French Settlements in India, and the seat of Government was purchased by the French from the Vijayanagar Raja in 1672, it is situated on a flat sandy coast south-east of a long flat hill. The settlement forms part of the delta conamoogam of the Pennar, and a great portion of its surface is alluvial. Many artesian wells have been sunk, and excellent drinking water is obtainable The hills known as the Montagnes Rouges form a natural girdle to the country about Pondicherry. The coast board of the settlement is about five miles, and its breadth from three to four miles. The climate is healthy. The territory is divided into eight municipalities The total superficies of the territory is estimated at 69,000 acres which, in consequence of the parcelment, is scattered over a space of about 173,000 acres.

The first French settlement was made here in 1674 under François Martin and the Genl. Mons. Dupleix. In 1693 it was captured by the Dutch and restored at the Peace of Ryswick in 1699. The town was besieged by the English unsuccessfully in 1748: but was taken by Sir E. Coote in 1761 and restored in 1763. It was again captured by Sir Hector Munro in 1778 and restored in 1785; Colonel Braithwaite once more took it in 1793, and finally restored it in 1816 A very fine fort, which was built 500 yards from the sea, of brick covered with polished white plaster, was demolished by Sir Eyre Coote, in 1761. Down to the middle of the last century Pondicherry was the finest city in India.

The city now extends along the sea coast about a mile and a quarter, and is about three-quarters of a mile in breadth The town is regularly built and is divided into two parts, the White town and the Black town, separated by a canal. The White town is by the sea side. Its streets are regularly laid out and cut each other at right angles, and the houses are well built There is a fine Pier 350 metres long. Government House, a handsome building situated to the North of the Place Dupleix, is within 300 yards of the sea, near a fine statue of Mons. Dupleix, inscribed "to all the glories of France," which is on a handsome pedestal of Gingee stone. The town has no port, but an open roadstead, which being to windward for nine months of the year, and having less surf, is superior to that at Madras But in consequence of the small depth of water near the shore and the violence of the surf, landing can be effected only by flat-bottomed boats constructed for the purpose. There are three hotels, and a fully furnished Travellers' bungalow near the Railway Station, which is maintained by a native gentleman Travellers can reside in this house for three days free of charge, but must make their own arrangements regarding food, etc., with the servants. The usual mode of conveyance is the pousse pousse, a sort of bath chair; jutkas and carts are also procurable.

The British India Co.'s Negapatam and Rangoon steamers call weekly, and the same Co.'s Madras and Singapore boats once a fortnight; the Messageries and Asiatic Co.'s steamers touch at the Por every alternate week. Pondicherry is the seat of an Archbishop, and the head-quarters of the French Roman Catholic Missions; there is a fine Cathedral dedicated to Notre Dame des Anges. There is a Circle (Club) for Europeans, and others for natives Pondicherry is the terminus of the Villupuram-Pondicherry branch of the South Indian Railway. The city and environs contain many fine houses in the European style, and the high culture of the soil, the numerous canals crossed by neatly constructed bridges, and roads planted with trees, give to the surrounding district the appearance of a great garden.

Three miles south of Pondicherry is the village of Veerampatnam, where is an ancient and interesting temple to the goddess Sangalaniammal (an Avatar of Kali) which attracts many pilgrims from all over South India. Four miles south, at Aryankuppam, is a very old Roman Catholic Church.

PUDUKKOTTAI STATE.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

Description.—This Native State, otherwise called the Tondiman's country, lies between 10° 15' and 0° 29' N. lat., and between 78° 45' and 79' E. long., and is entirely surrounded by the British districts of Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Ramnad and Madura. Its area is 1,179 square miles; almost entirely agricultural. Language spoken, Tamil. The country is for the most part a flat plain, interspersed with small rocky hills, some of which are crowned by old forts. In the south-west, hills and jungles are found, but elsewhere the State is well cultivated. There are 7,549 tanks, some of considerable size. The gross revenue of the State is about 21 lakhs of rupees.

The first connection of the British Government with the chief of this State, then usually called Tondiman, (a family name derived from the word Tondai, an abridged form of Tondaimandalam, the supposed original home of the family), was formed at the siege of Trichinopoly in 1758, when the British army greatly depended on his fidelity and exertions for the supply of provisions Subsequently, he was serviceable in the wars with Hyder Ali and in the Poligar War, the latter being the name given to the operations against the usurpers of the large zemindari of Sivaganga in the Madras district after the cession of the Carnatic. In 1803, he solicited as a reward for his services his claim to the fort and district of Kilanilai, situated in the southern part of Tanjore This was founded on a grant by Pratap Sing, Rajah of Tanjore, and on engagements afterwards entered into by Colonel Brathwaite, General Coote, and Lord Macartney the Government of Madras granted fort and district of Kilanelly, and the cession was confirmed by the Court of Directors, upon the condition that the district should not be alienated, and that it should revert to the British Government upon proof being given at any time that the inhabitants laboured under oppression.

The Rajah maintains a military force of 128 officers and men. Chief town, bearing the same name, is 32 miles south of Trichinopoly and 36 miles south-west of Tanjore. A Residency bungalow, Second grade College, a well-equipped Hospital a Travellers' bungalow, Court houses, and various other public buildings are in the town.

RAMNAD.

The District of Ramnad was constituted in 1910. It comprises the two great Zamindaries of Ramnad and Sivaganga and the Taluks of Sattur and Srivilliputhur. Srivilliputhur, Sivakasi and Virudhunagar are the Municipal towns in the district. Devakottai and Karaikudi are the centres of the wealthy trading community of Nattukottai Chetties Rameswaram is a place of pilgrimage much resorted to by people from all parts of India.

Industries—Pressing, Ginning and Weaving of Cotton, Silk Weaving at Paramagudi and Rameswaram.

Brass and bronze vessels are Manufactured at Puduvayal and Coir at Singampuneri.

Area 4,838 square miles. Population 1,721,837.

Virudhunagar, surrounded by hamlets of different names, known here-to-fore as Virudupatti of Viruduvetti is a municipal town on the South Indian Railway, between Madura and Maniyachi. It is 373 miles from Madras and 27 miles from Madura. The History of the town is told as follows:—

Some 800 years back a challenge was offered by a warrior to the residents of this town comprising of Chokkalingapuram, Kottaipatti, Allampatti and Muthuramanpatti. This warrior was in possession of a number of flags in token of having conquered many others. The challenge was accepted and in a fight the warrior was killed and his flags taken over. From then the town was known as Virudukkalvotti; which name was on the station being connected with the Railway in 1875, was altered by the Railway Company into Virudupatti In connection with the visit of the Honourable the Rajah of Panagal, Chief Minister to the Government of Madras to lay the foundation stone of the new Municipal Office building on the 6th, April, 1923 during the time of the first non-official Chairman of the Municipality Mr. M. S P. Senthikumara Nadar the Council changed the appellation of the town by calling it as Virudhunagar.

The town which is a big cotton centre was a Union till October 1915, when it was constituted a Municipality Aruppukottai a weaving centre about 12 miles is reached by motor bus which meets every train at Virudupatti.

There is a Travellers' Bungalow on the great southern trunk road about a mile from the Railway Station and a Chatram within half a mile. The principal trade is cotton and cotton goods. Export is made in large quantity in dried chillies, groundnut oil, Coriander seeds and jaggery, etc. There is a local festival lasting for 10 days every year in Pangum, (March April), when over (ten thousand) 10,000, people from all parts of the district and its surroundings congregate.

SIVAKASI.—It is said that Darisinam of Siva was presented to a Rishi by name Kasi-Kanda-Parakrama Rishi, who habitually used to go and return from Benares by Kavana Kuliga, was unavoidably detained in this particular place, which was a forest. The place takes its name from the incident mentioned above. The town is situated 12 miles west of Sattur Railway Station and is the Head-Quarters of the Sub-Collector of Sivakasi Division. A Police reserve in charge of a Deputy Superintendent has been located here. This was constituted as a municipal town on 1st October 1920. There is a Municipal Dispensary. This is an important trading centre. The main trade is cotton.

There is a missionary bungalow and school in Sachiapuram, 2 miles distant from here. There is one Private High School and a girls' school maintained by Nadar community. There are two Elementary Schools under the Municipal management, one for Mahomedan boys and girls and the other for the Adi Dravidas.

There are two choultries, one named as Tottenham's Choultry and the other named as Tinnevelly-Venkateswara Josiar's Chattram and in the latter free feeding is given to pilgrims. People who go to and return from Srivilliputtur used to stop and lodge for the nights in the choultries.

SANDUR STATE

Area, 164 square miles. Population 11,648.

Sandur lies within the district of Bellary. A cordon of hills surrounds it and much of the State consists of forests where sandalwood and other trees grow in abundance.

The family of the Raja counts back to a Mahratta officer in the army of Bijapur, a collateral in descent according to tradition with the Bhonslas of Satara. The grandson of this officer seized the country from a poligar of the Bedar or hunter tribe, a holder nominally subject to Bijapur and was subsequently confirmed in it by a grant from Sambhaji, who conferred on him the title of Senapathi.

In 1817 Sir Thomas Munro reduced the fort and valley on behalf of the Peshwa but in the following year they were restored to Siva Rao and in 1826 they were granted to him and his heirs in perpetuity.

In 1876 the title of "Raja" was conferred on the chief as an hereditary distinction.

The present chief of the State was born in 1892. He was married on the 8th June 1908 to Tara Raje, sister of the Chief of Akalkot in the Bombay Presidency, and has a daughter.

The famous shrine of Sri Kumaraswami is situated at a distance of about 6 miles from Sandur; pilgrims in large numbers from the N. W. Provinces and Bombay Presidency attend the festival there, held once in three years.

Rajah. - Srimant Vencata Rao, Rao Saheb, Hindu Rao, Ghorpâdê Mamalkatmadar Senapathy, Rajah of Sandur.

Dewan.—T. S. Ramachandra Iyer, B.A.

Sheristadar.—B. S. Salunke, Dewan's Office, Sandur.

The Madras States Agency.

Agent to the Governor-General —A. C. Duff, I.C.S.

Mercantile Concerns.—The General Sandur Mining Co., Ltd., Working Manganese Mines in the State.

THE SHEVAROY HILLS.

Are situated in the Salem District between 78°20° East longitude and 11° 05″ North longitude, and extend over an area of 150 square miles. The highest point, Shevaroyan, from which an extensive view of the surrounding country can be obtained, is 5,314 feet above the level of the sea. Branfell, 5,307 feet, and Duffs' Hill, 5,231. are next in height. The Shevaroyan, has a small temple and is often visited by picnic parties Yercaud, 4,330 feet in elevation, is the principal European settlement, having an altitude of 1,700 feet greater than that of Bangalore. It enjoys a cool and salubrious climate, and is surrounded by charming and picturesque scenery. This charming Hill Station is resorted to by a large number of visitors as a Sanitarium and also by those for whom the Nilgiris are too cold, being especially more suitable for those suffering from rheumatism, heart and lung complaints. Salem Railway station, from which alone the Shevaroys should be visited, lies 207 miles south-west of Madras, and is 14 miles by road and ghât, from the centre of Yercaud station. If the necessary arrangements have been made for ascending the ghât, visitors leaving Madras or Bangalore by the evening train reach their destination before 8 A M. the following morning. It is 206 miles distant from Calicut, 97 miles from Coimbatore and 126 from Trichinpoly.

These hills are approached by three ghâts, one on the southern side communicating with the town of Salem and the railway station; another on the western side leading to Kadiampatty station, distant about 12 miles; and the last, traced formerly as Bandy ghât on the northern side of these Hills, connecting them with the Bommidi railway station, distant about 19 miles. A carriage-ghât to Salem, named after His Excellency Sir Arthur Havelock, is freely used for wheeled traffic. The distance of this ghât to Salem Railway Station is 20 miles. From the station, Yercaud is reached in about three hours, to the foot of the old ghât road in jutkas at one rupee each, and the ascent used to be done on chairs at 5 annas per cooly carrying the same, six coolies to a chair But now these rates for chair and luggage coolies as for every thing else, are increased now the charge being Rs. 3-0 0. for a chair, and 6 annas for a luggage cooly. The return journey can be done either by rickshaws or cycles; the former are always available at the Yercaud Stores, the charge for each Rick being Rs. 3-12-0. Motoring up and down the New Ghât Road is not only now a possibility but a pleasure, because of the picturesque views that are to be seen.

Among some of the public buildings are the following:—Holy Trinity Church (Anglican), Roman Catholic Chapel, Roman Catholic Convent. French Mission, London Mission Chapel and School, Danish Mission Chapel, Post Office and Telegraph Office, Victoria Rooms, Kutcherry, Hospital and Dispensary. There is a Sub-Treasury and a Sub-Registrar s Office, in charge of the Deputy Tahsildar, who is the Sub-Magistrate of the Hills.

Fair lawns has ceased to exist as a boarding house having been bought by a private owner. The Carlton Hotel, comprising Charrington and Carlton House, has taken its place. Numerous detached bungalows, are surrounded by extensive and well managed gardens, and is in immediate proximity to the Church, Post and Telegraph Offices, Public Library and Tennis Courts The Yercaud Club is conveniently situated and has excellent Tennis and Badminton Courts, besides Billiard and Bridge Room &c. There are also Golf links near the Lake, but as these are too small, it is proposed to make a larger course on a more suitable site, and this should prove a great attraction to visitors from the plains 100 acres of land have been acquired for the formation of a Golf course. This was expected to be opened after the war and should form a great attraction to visitors of Yercaud.

A miniature Rifle Club for ladies was started in 1917.

The European and Eurasian inhabitants of the Shevaroys number about 350, the former being in a large majority; three-fifths of this population is settled in Yercaud and the remainder are in the outlying coffee estates The Ladies' Rifle Club has ceased to exist The Afghan Princes and interned Germans have been removed from Yercaud.

A market or Shandy is held on Sundays. There are Bakeries in Yercaud, and shops for the sale of stores and liquors, the principal being Messrs. N. O. Pillai, the " Yercaud Stores" and the " Saits " shop. Nearly all the English vegetables and fruit trees thrive remarkably well, and might be cultivated with profit to the grower, in fact a jam factory should prove a very paying concern

The largest coffee estates are situated from 4 to 7 miles away from Yercaud, at Nagalore and the Green Hills, at the former of which there is a Post and Telegraph Office. Here some of the most flourishing estates are to be seen with excellent roads to them. Several exotic trees are met with, such as Eucalyptus (Blue Gum), Norfolk Pines (Auracaria Excelsa), Pinus Longifolia (Pine), Grevillia Robusta (Silver Oak), &c , &c , which present a striking contrast to the forest trees indigenous to these Hills, to which, however, with the exception of the Casuarina, they are much inferior in beauty. Roses and ferns of different kinds grow very well.

The permanent residents are chiefly Planters, some of whom also possess houses which they rent out during the season, which lasts from April to October.

The climate is extremely healthy, especially for children, and epidemics of typhoid and small-pox are unknown. These Hills get the benefit of both the south-west and north-east monsoons, which causes the rainfall to be more evenly distributed throughout the year, and thus enhances the value of the place as a coffee and rubber growing district.

A tribe of natives, called Mallaialis (Hill-men), Vellallans by caste, the descendants of immigrants from near Conjeevaram, are to be met with living in numerous villages of from 20 to 100 conical-shaped huts. They are an agricultural race, cultivating different kinds of grain and breeding cattle and remarkable for their extreme clannishness. Labour rates have increased: men being Rs. 1/12, to 2 for a week, women Rs. 1/8 a week Independent of these Hill-men, Rs. 1-2-0, coolies from the low lands come up to work on the estates at the following rates: men Re. 1-8, women Rs. 1-8 a week and children 8 to 12 annas per week. There are very many spots within easy distance of Yercaud, commanding beautiful views of the low country and distant ranges, suitable for picnic and walking and riding parties, which have only to be seen to be appreciated. Amongst these might be mentioned Bears' Cave, Lady's Seat, Arthur's Seat, Pagoda Point, Prospect Point, the Killiur Falls, and Owen's Grotto.

THE TRAVANCORE STATE.

Description—This (the southern portion of the ancient division of Kerala) is a Native State, situated between 8o 4' and 10o 21' N. Lat., and between 76o 13' and 77o 38' E. Long It is bounded on the north by the Native State of Cochin and the British District of Coimbatore; on the east by the British districts of Madura and Tinnevelly; on the south and west by the Indian Ocean The extreme length of Travancore from north to south is 174 miles, its extreme breadth 75 miles. Area, 762,484 square miles, Population, 4,000,062. The State is in subsidiary alliance with the British Government. to which it pays a tribute of Rs 8,00,000 a year. It is divided for administrative purposes into 34 taluks. Trivandrum is the chief town and the residence of the Maharajah. Languages spoken are Malayalam in the North and Tamil in the South.

Travancore is one of the most picturesque portions of Southern India The mountains which separate it on the east from the British districts on the Coromandel Coast, and which at some points rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet above the sea, are clothed with magnificent primeval forest; while the belt of flat country, to an average distance of about 10 miles inland from the sea, is covered with an almost unbroken mass of cocoanut and areca palms, which. in a great measure, constitute the wealth of the country. The whole surface is undulating, and presents a series of hills and valleys, traversed from east to west by many rivers, the floods of which arrested by the peculiar action of the Arabian Sea on the coast, spread themselves out into numerous lakes or lagoons connected here and there by artificial canals, and forming an inland line of smooth water-communication which extends nearly the whole length of the coast, and is of the utmost value when the sea itself is closed for navigation during the monsoon. Nanjenaud with its numerous villages, palmyra groves, and extensive swamps of rice, resembles in some respects the neighbouring district of Tinnevelly, except that, unlike Tinnevelly, it is nowhere sterile. Northward, this fertile plain is succeeded by the wooded and rugged surface of the Malayalam country. The rich and variegated tract along the coast is finely contrasted with the mountainous wilds farther inland. The hill scenery has peculiar beauties, among which are the wild, rocky and precipitous activities and fantastic forms of the mountains in the southern parts. Farther north, the mountain chain becomes less bold a few rugged cliffs and conical summits alone breaking the sameness of its outline. The high range breaks into clusters of hills, and the valleys are studded with temples and churches. Indeed, the numerous houses and gardens scattered thickly over the country, give it an appearance entirely different from that of the eastern coast. Manacoody, Colachel, Vizhinjam Poondcray, Anjengo, Quilon, Poracaud, and Alleppey are seaport towns of which Alleppey, Quilon and Colachel are by far the most important, the others being frequented only by small native craft. The hill region is so extensive, and so marked a feature of the State, that it merits special notice. The mountains are of every variety of elevation, climate and vegetation. Some tracts are even now considered inaccessible Certain portions have been taken up by European and native capitalists, by whom the natural fertility of the soil is being turned to good account. Some of the loftier mountains are entirely detached except near their bases, from the neighbouring heights; they often have a precipitous descent towards the west, and are connected on that side with a succession of low hills which diminish in altitude as they approach the coast From Quilon southward, these secondary ranges soften down into undulating slopes, intersected by glens and valleys, which grow wider as the elevation of the hills decreases, and are cultivated invariably with rice, proving very productive. Among the mountains a few rough elevated tablelands are found; but the alternation of hill and valley is in most cases too rapid to allow of any large extent of level surface. The above remarks refer to the country west of the Periyar river, between which and Dindigul rises a confused mass of hills. These have, however, similar characteristics; their summits, either broken into projecting cliffs, or thickly covered with trees, fall generally with precipitous abruptness, and present a variety of wild and magnificent forest scenery. These solitudes inclose some elevated plains (about one-twelfth of the whole area), which afford pasturage for cattle, and enjoy a good climate for a portion of the year. To the north, the mountains rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet, with plateau over 7,000 feet. The more important of these is part of the group known as the Anamallays. The southernmost peak of note is the sacred Agasthyakudam (6,200 feet), the source of the Tambrapurny river. The plateau, by reason of their good climate, rich soil, abundant timber and water-supply, are likely to become better known as the demand for coffee land increases. One plateau alone (Eroovimullay or Hamilton's Valley) is 6 miles long by 3 wide, and contains about 10 000 acres of excellent tea and coffee land Similar smaller valleys are found in the group called the Kanandevan Hills. At the head of the Travancore Hills stands Anamudi (8,837 feet), the highest peak south of the Himalayas, and near it are several other peaks of 8,000 feet. South of this group is the lower region of the Cardamom Hills so called from their special product. South of these, again, are large tracts of unsurveyed forest, which, with the exception of the Ashamboo coffee plantations, and one or two narrow strips near the main passes, continue to the Atchancoil river. Even south of this, although the hills become lower and narrower, the country is thinly inhabited almost to Cape Comorin Numerous rivers run down from the ghats, which flow by tortuous courses, with high banks and rocky beds, into the backwater; most of these are navigable only near the sea. The chief river of Travancore is the Periyar, rising in the High Ranges. which, after a course of 142 miles, enters the backwater at Kodungalore (Cranganore); 60 miles of this river are navigable. A portion of its enormous volume of water is now diverted into Madura by the Periyar water works. The Pamba, and its tributary the Atchancoil, and the Kallada are the next in importance. The Western Tambrapurny, or, as it is locally known, the Coolitoray river, rising in the mountains to the north of Mahendragherry, a sister river of the larger Tambrapurny which flows east into Tinnevelly, flows westward, like all other Travancore rivers. Numerous small streams cross the narrow plain between the mountains and the sea, but no large irrigation works exist on them, the plentiful rainfall making these unnecessary, except in the extreme south. Here on the Paraly and Koda, there are anicuts constructed by Pandyan kings. A succession of lagoons or backwaters, connected by navigable canals, extends along the coast, from Trivandrum northwards, forming a most important means of communication. Its extreme length is nearly 200 miles, namely, from Tirur in British Malabar to Trivandrum; between the latter place and Quilon, there rises a high promontory of land about 6 miles in breadth, the highest portions of which in two places have been tunnelled through, to a length of over 3,000 feet, and the remaining portion cut open into a canal, thus making the line of water communication complete. The total area of these lakes is 227½ square miles, of which 157½ are in Travancore, 53½ in Cochin, and 16½ in British Territory. The largest lake is the Vembanaud (east of Alleppey). but, except during the monsoon, it is shallow. A strip of land from 7 miles to about half a mile wide separate these backwaters from the sea. There are, however, several outlets. those at Chetwye, Kodangalore, Cochin, Kayankulam, Idva and Paravoor being the principal ones. Every kind of merchandise and a very large portion of the produce of the country is carried on these waters. There are also several good cart roads in the inland parts of the country for local traffic and the extension of the South Indian Railway to Quilon has opened up easy communication with Tinnevelly and Madura. The boats for water communication are of various sizes, and in most instances are formed of a single tree, the trunk of which is hollowed out. The ordinary size is about 20 feet by 2½ feet; the boats for carrying rice to a distance are larger, and have a deck or roof. Tampakam and areialy trees are generally selected for boat-building, being durable and sufficiently large. Alum, sulphur, lignite, plumbago and mica exist. There are plumbago mines at Nayattinkara and Nedumangad and mica mines at Eraniel. The mountains and forests of Travancore afford some of the best sport to be got anywhere in India, especially in the shape of "large game." Elephants, whose ivory is a source of State revenue, are numerous. Tigers, leopards (including the black variety), bears, bison, sambhur, or "elk," and various kinds of deer abound.

RAMA VARMA, His Highness Sir Sree G.C.I.E., the Maharaja of Cochin, b. 6th October 1858. Particular care was bestowed on His Highness' early education. Of studious habits from the very beginning, he pursued his Sanskrit and English studies assiduously and attained a high degree of proficiency in both. Besides, His Highness has acquired a deep knowledge of "Ashtangahridyam", the national medical system, to which his knowledge of Sanskrit specially fitted him, specialising in the treatment of hydrophobia, snakebite, etc. His Highness has been ever prompt in placing the benefit of his special knowledge and skill in this direction at the disposal of patients brought to him and it was only when he became the Elaya Raja or heir apparent that he had for want of time to reluctantly give up this humanitarian work. In 1890 His Highness m. Sreemathi V. K. Parukutti Amma of the well-known Kuruppam family of Trichur. His Highness's domestic life has ever been one of unalloyed happiness. His Highness Raja Sir Sree Rama Varmah, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E., having abdicated and retired in private life, His Highness ascended the Musnad on the 21st January 1915. To gain experience and widen his outlook on administrative affairs, His Highness toured throughout the length and breadth of India on two occasions visiting at the same time several important places of historic and religious interest. The distinction of G.C.I.E. was conferred on His Highness on the occasion of His Majesty The King Emperor's Birthday and the hereditary title of "Maharaja" was for the first time conferred upon the rulers of the State in the year 1921. The Administration Reports of the State for successive years bear testimony to His Highness's administrative work and the love and esteem in which His Highness is held show how popular a ruler His Highness is.

PANDIT SWAMY, S.
SRINIVASA AYYANGAR OF KRISHNAPURAM,
Tinnevelly District,
72, Armenian Street, Madras.

THE FAMOUS AYURVEDIC SPECIALIST.

Undertakes to cure all so-called incurable ailments, such as virulent cases of Leprosy, Diabetes Syphilis, Nervous Debility and Impotency, Urinary Disorders, Hemorrhoids, etc., etc.

CONSULTATION, Rs. 15.

The following are a few of the many hundreds of unsolicited Testimonials, from grateful persons, who have obtained complete cures of their ailments after Swamiji's treatment.

DIABETES, NERVOUS DEBILITY AND FEVER.

I have been suffering from Diabetes since 1916 I had intermittent fever when my urine was tested in July 1920 There was a very large quantity of sugar. In October 1920, I consulted Pandit Swami Srinivasa Ayyangar of Krishnapuram, Tinnevelly District and placed myself under his treatment and felt much stronger now. I had my urine tested on the 26th November 1920, and the Doctor who tested the urine reported ' No albumen, no sugar—seems alright.'' I was not restricted to any diet.

J. BROWN,
Deputy Examiner
December, 1920. Military Accounts Department.

SOME REMARKABLE CURES.

I have known the Pandit for some time as an Ayurvedic Physician and I have had occasion to become acquainted with some remarkable cures effected by him in cases of diabetes, leprosy and other complicated chronic cases. I have myself derived considerable benefit from his treatment.

C. KRISHNASWAMI RAO, DIWAN BAHADUR,
Retired District and Sessions Judge,
13th November, 1923. Teynampet, Madras.

GONORRHŒA, RHEUMATISM, SEMINAL DISCHARGES, NERVOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF EYE-SIGHT, EMACIATION OF LIMBS AND ULCEROUS PATCHES.

I was feeling for the past three years unbearable pain in the joints of my body, my right leg became completely emaciated, my left eye grew watery and blood-red and consequently I began to lose my eye-sight and I had also involuntary nocturnal semen discharges. To add to this, there appeared also ulcerous patches on the lower jaw and the front of the armpits, such was my state of health when I put myself under the treatment of the Pandit. I may say also in this connection that I tried the Western System for a long time past but to no effect. It is really a marvel that within a brief period of one month, the Pandit was able to cure me of all the complications in me. The Pandit, I must say, is gifted and his medicines though costly have very wonderful effects. I am very grateful to the Pandit for the new lease of life he has given me. The leg became normal and healthy, the pain in the joints disappeared, the affected eye became normal, the semen discharges stopped and the ulcerous patches were completely effaced from the body.

FOR DIABETES.

Sriman Pandit Swami Srinivasa Ayyangar has by his marvellous remedies enhanced the reputation of Ayurvedic medicines in the treatment of diseases I have had opportunities of becoming acquainted with his method of treatment. I can bear testimony from my own experience to the miraculous manner in which he has been able to cure Diabetes. He has been able to completely eradicate sugar from urine and reduce the specific gravity even below normal within a space of abont ten days, without prescribing any hard diet and without weakening the system. RAO BAHADUR A. S. KRISHNA RAO, B.A., B.L., M.L.C.,
High Court Vakil.
Member, Legislative Council, President, District Board, Nellore.

I have great pleasure to say that I have seen Pandit Swami Srinivasa Iyengar's Dispensary. From the enquiries I have made I find that the Pandit has been able to effect cures in the cases of diabetes and nervous debility I saw a number of patients. All of them admit that after they had the Pandit's treatment they found great relief. Some of the patients I enquired stated that the analysis of their urine after treatment shows no trace of sugar. I should very much like to have these cases of cure thoroughly examined by scientific men. I wish the Pandit every success. P. RAMARAYANINGAR,
Chief Minister.

COUGH, NERVOUS WEAKNESS AND EXCESS OF HEAT IN THE BODY.

Has treated me for excessive heat, nervous weakness and cough from which I was suffering for the last two years. My condition was very bad and I tried both English and Ayurvedic Doctors with no effect I ultimately went to Pandit Swami S. Srinivasa Ayyangar and was under his treatment for the last two months. I am glad to testify to the miraculous cure which his medicines have effected in me. While I was under his treatment there came a large swelling of a private portion of the body and for ten days I hesitated to report the same to Swamiji. Day by day the swelling was increasing rapidly Then I reported it to Swamiji who cured me of the same within a period of five days I have no hesitation whatsoever in recommending the Doctor Swamiji to the patients who may require his assistance Where others have failed, he is sure to effect a cure. He is very kind to his patients. I. V. KRISHNA RAO.
Son-in-law of the Raja of Jatprole,

URINARY COMPLAINTS CAUSED BY EXTREME NERVOUS DEBILITY.

His cured me within a short time of my urinary complaints due to extreme nervous debility caused by my service overseas. After the treatment I feel as though I am endowed with a new vigour and strength. Thanks to Pandit and credit to Ayurvedic system that he practises with great skill and success.

I have actually seen Pandit curing successfully a case of diabetic carbuncle of a serious nature, which, I understand, was given up by other doctors as hopeless.

RHEUMATISM.

I had been suffering for the last 3 years from very severe and unbearable pains in the joints all over my body due to Rheumatism Consequently I had no appetite and was spending restless nights. I was so much reduced in weight and looked so skeleton-like that I lost all hopes of surviving and sometimes even preferred death to this miserable life.

I placed myself under several I. M. S. doctors who could not give me even temporary relief. To my great fortune, I one day felt an impulse to go and consult Pandit Swami Srinivasa Ayyangar. I then placed myself under his treatment, who miraculously relieved me from my long suffering within a short period of 20 days. I am now altogether a changed person regaining my original strength and vigour. My weight has now considerably increased.
